9400 NAZIS ONE DAY TOLL

MOSCOW, Jan. 29-(AP)—One Red army was in possession today of Kastornoye, a railway city strategically important to the Soviet campaign at the middle of the long Russian front, the Russians announced, and other troops were reported closing in on the vital rail junctions of Kropotkin and Tikhoretsk, in the Caucasus.

Envelopment of the Caucasian cities and the spread of a pincers movement around the Maikop oil field provided the most spectacular gains claimed for the Soviet troops in current fighting, but the capture of Kastornoye also gave impetus to the drives against Kursk and Kharkov, two strong points of German depth-in-defense lines in the Voronezh "hinge" sector.

The Russian midday communique, as reported in London by the Soviet radio monitor, told of smashing new blows on the Voronezh front which brought the capture of 33 more places and resulted in the killing of 3000 Axis troops and capture of 6400 more, including three generals.

The seizure of another town in the Caucasus in one engagement and the killing of more than 200 Germans in another also were reported.

EAST OF KURSK

Kastornoye sits at the intersection of the Voronezh-Kursk railway with the Valuiki-Yelets rail line. The city is 75 miles east of Kursk and about 170 miles northeast of Kharkov.

Its importance in relation to Kharkov is that the Russians previously had announced capture of Valuiki, which is 120 miles south of Kastornoye and about 75 miles east of Kharkov.

If Kursk can be taken, the north-south rail line between Smolensk, Kharkov, Melitopol and Crimea would be cut; Kharkov would be flanked, and the fluidity of German supply lines would be impaired.

In the Caucasus, the troops which had advanced along the Baku-Rostov railway were said to be at Gulkevichi, only eight miles southeast of Kropotkin.

This represented an advance of about 215 miles from Mozdok, recaptured early in the Caucasus campaign, and while this swift march was taking place the Soviet troops were sending arms north and south of the railroad in other offensive actions.

GIRAUD LIMITS ACCORD WITH DE GAULLE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Gen. Honore Giraud declared today there were no prospects of any single United French movement at present and that the only agreement between himself and Gen. Charles De Gaulle would be one "of liason on military, economic and financial matters."

Giraud, high commissioner for French North and West Africa, told a press conference he had not taken up "the question of politics" with the leader of the Fighting French when the two were brought together during the Roosevelt-Churchill conference in Casablanca.

Henri Giraud Gen. De Gaulle

"There is no question of a single united French movement throughout the world at the present time," he said.

"We are establishing a permanent liason on critical economic and military questions"

Giraud told the conference he was willing to give the Jews in North Africa back their property and allow Jewish children in the schools, but added that "these moves must be made gradually."

Before the conference he issued a long statement, much of it repeating material previously covered, but adding that the discussion with De Gaulle at Casablanca was a preliminary step to others to be taken.

Speaking of the Jewish question later he said he had no sympathy with German views thereon, but added the question in North Africa was "an internal one in which the world as a whole has no interest."

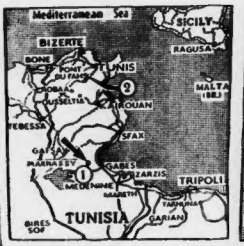
F. D. Flights to Liberia, Brazil Smash Precedents



TUNISIA — American troops smashed beyond Maknassy (1) today as the drive toward the Gulf of Gabes to cut Rommel's escape corridor. Meanwhile, British troops were active in Medjez-El-Bab sector (2).

RUSSIA—Russian troops today aimed at encircling Tikhoretsk and Kropotkin, Caucasian rail junctions, and the Maikop oil fields . . . while to the north, the Reds grabbed a Nazi base 75 miles from Kursk.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) — Piling up precedent on precedent, President Roosevelt is taking advantage of his historic trip to North Africa by stopping off en route home and conferring with the heads of Allied Nations in both hemispheres.

The latest of these meetings came yesterday, when Mr. Roosevelt saw President Getulio Vargas of Brazil at Natal, main South American terminus of the airplane service to Africa. As they talked, Brazilians celebrated the first anniversary of that nation's break with the Axis.

While details were not immediately available, it was presumed the two chief executives had an opportunity to discuss Brazil's strategic importance in hemispheric defense.

It was the first meeting between the two presidents since 1936, when Mr. Roosevelt visited Brazil on a South American tour, and came as this republic celebrated the first anniversary of her rupture of relations with the Axis powers.

MAIN TERMINAL

Natal, situated on the "bulge" of Brazil, is the main western terminus of transatlantic plane services operating between South America and Africa.

Vargas had left Rio De Janeiro earlier in the week to fly to Sao Paulo, where his son, Getulio, Jr., is seriously ill, but his subsequent movements had not been disclosed.

Their last meeting almost seven years ago took place while President Roosevelt was en route to Buenos Aires for the Inter-American conference.

Meanwhile, the White House disclosed last night that Mr. Roosevelt had paused on his journey homeward from the momentous war councils in North Africa to greet the president of tropical Liberia, on the western bulge of Africa.

REVIEWS TROOPS

There he reviewed American Negro troops and inspected a plantation turning out war-vital rubber.

With one intervening stop, which was not identified, Mr. Roosevelt and his party flew to Liberia in two four-motored Army transport planes.

Allowed a bit of time to freshen up, the President was escorted to the officers' mess hall where President Edwin Barclay of Liberia, Clarence L. Simpson, Liberian secretary of state, and Fredrick P. Hibbard, American charge d'affaires, were waiting to greet him.

BERLIN BANS FLAGS ON "HITLER'S DAY"

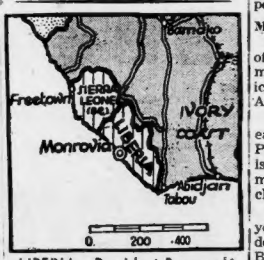
LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—A proclamation by Hitler, to be broadcast by Propaganda Minister Goebbels at 4 p. m. tomorrow (11 a. m., Boston time), will be a highlight of Germany's observance of the 10th anniversary of the Fuehrer's rise to power, the Berlin radio announced today.

It will, however, be a flagless celebration.

In the morning Goering will address the armed forces while three will also be a broadcast message to the youth of the nation by Arthur Axmann, youth leader.

The Berlin radio said an order forbidding display of flags came from Goebbels and Interior Minister Frick.

The reason was not stated, but London diplomatic circles noted it came at a time when German news from the Russian and North African fronts was dark and coincident with a broadening of the Reich's labor draft and suggested the aim was to create within Germany a spirit comparable to that which developed in Britain under the reverses of 1940-41.



LIBERIA—President Roosevelt stopped off at the Republic of Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, to meet the nation's president and review American troops on duty there. Then the President flew to Natal, Brazil.

U. S. PLANES RIP TUNISIAN PORT

By ALFRED E. WALL

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The harbor and railway yards of Sfax a supply port vital for regrouping of Axis forces in Tunisia, were officially declared today to have been hard hit by the 12th U. S. Air Force's greatest raid of the war while British Eighth Army artillerymen duelled with Marshal Rommel's rear guard in the Zuara area 35 miles east of the Tunisian frontier.

The Axis betrayed jitters by radio suggestions that the British First Army already had started a big move in the Tunisian theater, these following unconfirmed reports that the American ground forces there had launched or were preparing an offensive.

The broadcasts had no confirmation and today's communique from Allied headquarters in North Africa said "there is no change in the ground situation."

U. S. heavy and medium bombers, escorted by P-38 lightning fighters, struck Sfax in four waves yesterday, blasted the rail lines and harbor facilities heavily, left many fires burning and shot down six Axis planes which attempted to intervene.

A 12th air force spokesman said the number of planes used was the largest it had ever sent against a single target. The Italian high command acknowledegd that damage was heavy.

Axis troops and vehicles were bombed and shot up in a series of other raids from the Pont Du Fahs area to the Ousseltia valley and three enemy bombers were reported shot from a small formation which attacked Algiers last night. From all the operations, two Allied aircraft were reported missing.

The gradual shortening of Marshal Rommel's narrow escape corridor in illustrated by the fact that Sfax, on the upper curve of the Gulf of Gabes, lies only 150 miles by air northwest of Zuara.

Despite the fact that Rommel assigned artillery to the rear guard in the area of the Tripolitanian port, London military sources reiterated the opinion that he would not make a real delaying stand before he reached the Mareth Line.

Death Toll 7 in 12.8-Inch Snow; 4500 Dig Boston Out

Seven deaths, scores of accidents, disrupted transportation schedules and heatless homes today marked New England's worst snowstorm since the 1940 St. Valentine Day's blizzard.

The official snowfall was 12.8 inches in Boston. Heaviest in the State was 18 inches at Blandford in Hampshire County. The St. Valentine snowfall was 14 inches in two days.

High winds piled the snow in drifts which in some places measured 10 feet in depth early today.

Snow-clogged Greater Boston is being dug out by 4500 city laborers, mostly high school boys, under supervision of William T. Morrissey, city highway engineer.

MANPOWER IS PROBLEM

Despite a shortage of man power and equipment, Morrissey reports that all highways in the metropolitan area will be passable before nightfall. He has 475 trucks and 73 snowloaders available but his major problem is help to operate them.

All state highways have been opened to traffic, according to James E. Lawrence, maintenance engineer of the State Public Works department.

One of the worst spots in the state was reported along Plymouth's main street where an eight-foot drift blocked all traffic.

Hundreds of abandoned automobiles added to the difficulty of clearing highways, especially in Blue Hill ave., between Morton st. and Mattapan sq., Dorchester.

WAR WORKERS DELAYED

Newburyport turnpike also was lined with many stalled automobiles, including large trailer trucks.

War workers experienced difficulties as they changed shifts at the various plants in the metropolitan area, delays ranging from one to three hours resulting.

The Boston Elevated and Eastern Massachusetts lines had hundreds of men and machines working throughout the night to keep their tracks and bus routes open.

ERROL FLYNN'S STORY UNDER NEW ATTACK

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29 (AP)—Rebuttal witnesses were summoned by the state today in a further effort to prove the charges which screen star Errol Flynn has been denying for two days on the witness stand—that he had intimate relations with two teen-age girls.

The tall, ruddily tanned actor persistently refuted yesterday the story of Betty Hansen, 17, that he violated her last Sept. 21 after a dinner party in a Bel-Air home.

The defense then rested, and Flynn underwent two hours' gruelling cross-examination. But he remained unshaken in his denials of charges made by Miss Hansen and 16-year-old Peggy La Rue Satterlee, Hollywood snowgirl who testified that he twice molested her aboard his yacht Sirocco in August, 1941.

DEFENSE CONCLUDES

Defense Atty. Jerry Giesler concluded his examination of Flynn by asking:

"At any time or place did you have an act of sexual intercourse with Betty Hansen?"

"Never—at any time," the actor declared firmly.

"Did you at any time or place have such an act with Peggy Satterlee?"

"I never did."

Flynn further denied that he went into an upstairs bedroom with Miss Hansen at the Bel-Air home of Fred McEvoy, oil man and part-time actor. He said he was not even introduced to her. His first recollection of her, he said, was "when she came over and sat on the arm of my chair" on a sun porch before dinner.

When the guests left, he said, he "certainly" didn't kiss her, but as to whether she kissed him—

CLUNG TO HIM

"I'm not certain—she seemed to hang onto me. If she kissed me, it was in such a manner that I didn't notice it."

On cross-examination, Deputy Dist.-Atty. John Hopkins questioned Flynn about the week-end cruise taken by him, Miss Satterlee and another couple to Catalina Island in his yacht. The actor declared he had not even kissed Miss Satterlee.

"Not even lightly?" Hopkins persisted.

"Neither lightly nor heavily," the actor replied.

He explained that the trip was made to take photographs of himself, spear-fishing, for a national magazine. The girls were suggested, he said, to provide atmosphere.

At the close of yesterday's session Defense Atty. Giesler asked that the jury visit Flynn's 73-foot yacht. Superior Judge Leslie E. Still did not immediately rule on the request.

FOOD, FUEL DELIVERY HARD HIT BY SNOW

Greater Boston faced a serious food delivery problem today with snow-bound streets and highways.

Grave concern was felt, especially in the delivery of milk and other food essentials, as numerous trucks became stalled and stores and homes were left without these commodities.

City health officials were reported taken necessary precautions, especially in cases of many families on relief as well as the needy aged.

Fuel oil and coal trucks were snarled in many yards.

Groans Hail Train Going Wrong Way

First train out of Hingham pulled though just about 7:15 a. m., but to the groans of early commuters it was going the wrong way—south instead of toward Boton.

3 Shipyard Buses In Worst Tangle

Quincy sq.—Shipyard—Hingham buses found the going tough near the Hingham shipyard today—too tough for three of them which managed to get almost hopelessly snarled and thus tied up traffic both ways on Route 3A.

Madge Bellamy Blames Love for Her Gun Toting

By MILTON G. DUNLAP

International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29 (INS)—"People who have been in love—well, sometimes they don't see the common sense of things."

That was the explanation given today by Madge Bellamy, stage and screen star of the early twenties, for firing three shots last week in the direction of A. Stanwood Murphy, wealthy lumber baron.

Madge Bellamy

None of the bullets hit Murphy.

"I suppose," she told International News Service, "it sounds silly to talk of love with Stanwood.

TELLS WHY SHE FIRED

"When he married June Almy, my world came to a complete standstill—and it didn't start moving again until that night."

That particular night was the evening of Jan. 19, and because of it Miss Bellamy must appear in court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Still a bit shaky after her arraignment Wednesday, Miss Bellamy told why she came from her ranch near Riverside to San Francisco in search of the man she had loved for five years.

"I couldn't believe it, when I learned from his relatives that he had married this—this other person. My goodness, he had known her for 14 years!

WANTED TO HUMBLE HIM

"I never wanted to marry Stanwood Murphy for his money. I admit I do admire and respect a man who is a leader, a hard, tough go-getter and who knows how to wield power, but I loved that man.

"I can't say what made me put that silly gun in my purse. The idea of shooting at him certainly was not premeditated.

"I wanted to hurt his dignity, to humiliate him."

Hot Stove Thief Has New Rival

You'd hardly expect burglars to be abroad what with the blizzard, drifts and tough going, but six men entered the Hotel Vendome early today and took—of all things—an Oriental rug.

A clerk on duty noticed the men, but thought they were merely in for a bit of shelter. When he looked again the floor was bare.

OIL CRISIS AT ALL-TIME PEAK

With oil dealers and pedlars facing the well-nigh insurmountable task of delivering oil through snow-clogged streets and with kerosene supplies all but gone, the crisis which fuel and health administrators have dreaded all winter appeared at hand today.

So serious was the emergency that New England OPA Director Kenneth B. Backman clamped down a priorities order on all kerosene sales, effective at 12:01 a. m. today and continuing at least until Feb. 8, first of its kind in the country.

Backman said a "state of emergency" exists in the kerosene shortage and that the health of thousands of war workers is endangered. His order was designed primarily to provide sufficient range oil for tenement dwellers, who have no other means of heat.

MORE TO COME

State and Federal fuel executives hinted similar priorities rulings may be issued to govern sales of home furnace oil and heavy bunker oil, so that those persons who need the fuel most will have the first chance to buy.

As of Wednesday, Backman said, there was only a half-day supply of kerosene in Boston, while other New England cities faced even more dire shortages.

One of the worst situations exists in Lowell, where emergency shipments of kerosene were delayed in arriving. Many families already have been reported moving from fuel-less homes and doubling up with neighbors.

Mayo A. Shattuck, evacuation division director for the Massachusetts Public Safety Committee, warned his aides through the state to stand by, ready to shelter refugees driven from their homes by lack of fuel.

Several Greater Boston war plants have reported a curtailment of work-days owing to illnesses among workers as a result of the oil shortage, according to Army officials.

PLIGHT CITED

Director Backman cited the situation in Fitchburg as typical of New England's plight, in that an average of 35,000 gallons of light oil a day is used in the central Massachusetts city and today that community has only 5000 gallons on hand.

"These conditions are not general," he said. "But they are not unusual, either. I would say that they are typical of many communities."

The OPA emergency order lists the following priorities for the delivery of kerosene:

"1—Any consumer who requires a transfer of kerosene for an emergency involving serious threat to life or health. In the event of doubt as to the existence of such emergency a certificate issued by a local board certifying as to the existence of such an emergency shall be conclusive of the matter, provided, however, that no dealer shall be required to demand that such a certificate be presented as a condition of delivery of kerosene.

"2—Consumers who occupy buildings for residential purposes which have no central heating systems and who acquire kerosene for use in space heaters;

"3—Consumers occupying buildings for residential purposes where such buildings contain central heating system desiring to use kerosene exclusively, for use in such heating systems;

"4—Consumers who have applied for and have been granted a ration for domestic cooking or lighting to the extent of the ration issued to them for such purposes;

"5—Consumers acquiring kerosene for use in industrial purposes or operations to the extent that they are contained in schedule A of petroleum administrative order number 3 (a list of critical users);

"No person shall transfer kerosene to any consumer within the kerosene shortage area unless such person shall have filled all demands for kerosene made upon him by any person having a higher priority on the foregoing list."

BOY, 11, FACES COURT AS SLAYER OF PAL

CRANSTON, R. I., Jan. 29—Behind the closed doors of Cranston's juvenile court today justice coped with one of the most tragic and delicate problems in Rhode Island court annals.

An 11-year-old boy faced a possible charge of murder. The victim was his companion, a lad of his same age, Clinton Place, Jr.

Police Sergt. John F. Ryan said the young defendant admitted pushing his pal into the path of an on-coming locomotive after they had quarreled over a wrist watch, and then looted the dead body of the watch, a dollar bill, and a purse containing a nickel.

In revealing the tragedy, Sergt. Ryan said the boy who took the watch wore it to school, showed it to his classmates, and bragged about how he obtained it. Ryan said it happened in the Auburn railroad yards on Jan. 14.

Police said the train engineer recalled seeing another boy on the tracks at the time and thought he might have been hit by another train.

As is the case of all juvenile court hearings, today's session was closed to spectators.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Sen. Van Nuys (D.) of Indiana proposed today that Edward J. Flynn end a bitter Senate controversy over his appointment as minister to Australia by requesting President Roosevelt to withdraw his name from sonsideration.

Van Nuys, who voted against Flynn in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in what he said was a protest against the submission of controversial nominations in wartime, told reporters he believed the withdrawal of Flynn's name would be a "very wholesome solution" to a situation which had found the Senate almost equally divided on the question of confirmation.

WANT NATALIE BACK—Signing a petition for the reinstatement of Natalie Hays Hammond as commandant of the Women's Defense Corps is Mabel E. Phoenix . . . flanked by Anna Kandrot (left) and Sergt. Marie Keohane. This action followed a meeting of the corps members at Irvington st. armory.

FRIENDS LAUNCH DRIVE TO REINSTATE COL. NATALIE

Friends and supporters of Natalie Hays Hammond, deposed commandant of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps, were circulating a petition seeking her reinstatement today, adding another "headache" to the job of Maj. John J. Lane, corps co-ordinator, who has been assigned the task of revamping the corps' setup and supervising selection of a new leader.

"There are 5000 headaches in the corps. I would rather be sent to Guadalcanal," Maj. Lane exclaimed, after meeting with corps representatives at a session which delegates described as "the stormiest we've ever held."

Circulation of the Hammond petition began after the meeting.

Maj. Lane's stormy meeting with headquarters companies at brigade headquarters at Irvington St. Armory followed an executive session of regional directors at the State House. At this meeting, Lane announced, the regional directors voted unanimously to select an outsider as the corps' new leader. Five women, he said, are under consideration for the post.

SOME OPPOSITION

At the armory session, not all of those present were supporters of Miss Hammond. Cries of "sit down," greeted Sgt. Marie Keohane when she interrupted Maj. Lane's speech to demand a full explanation of why Col. Hammond was ousted.

"Don't tell me to sit down," she retorted. "I am a member of this corps and I demand an answer." She was loudly applauded.

"You're putting me on the spot. I had nothing to do with it," protested Maj. Lane. "I ought not to be held responsible for someone else's quarrel. I am a personal friend of Miss Hammond."

Mrs. John H. Kimball also wanted to know if there was a sufficient reason for the removal of Miss Hammond.

"It's an unfair question," Lane replied.

Still another member inquired if the corps had to be under the Mass. Public Safety Committee. Lane replied that was the law.

DRAGS IN GROVE FIRE

Sergt. Keohane said as far as she is concerned Col. Hammond is still her commanding officer. Then she switched to the Cocoanut Grove and wanted to know why the corps was not called out in that catastrophe in which it was praised for its timely aid.

"Probably inefficiency of the Public Safety Committee," Lane said.

After the meeting Maj. Lane announced he was cancelling all MWDC "affiliate commissions." These honorary offices had been awarded to beauticians, who gave extended courses to plump corps members in how to get rid of excess fat, and to women writers who gave advice on how a corps publication should be run. However, those deprived on their commissions can re-enter the corps if they qualify, Maj. Lane said.

RUN ON MARRIAGE MARKET!

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 29 (INS)—A run on the marriage market developed in South Bend as 190 new Navy ensigns stowed away their commissions and more than 100 of them headed for the altar.

The heavy task force of prospective grooms grew out of the first graduating class of the new midshipman's training school at the University of Notre Dame.

As a result, hundreds of attractive young women from all sections of the country flocked into the city. Most of them were in a hurry to change their names since the ensigns have only brief leaves before going to sea or to another training post.

Every church in South Bend was booked up solid on its marriage schedule for at least a week.

Four hundred ensigns will go to the altar within seven days. The marital procession began only a few hours after commencement ceremonies in the new drill hall on the Notre Dame campus.

Sixteen couples expected to be man and wife before the day was out. Approximately 189 others planned to be married within four days.

He Whews in Vain; $2000 Check Not His

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 29 (AP)—State Senator Robert C. Reilly, a Dubuque Democrat, whewed a loud "whew" when he opened a letter at his senate seat and out dropped a check for $2000.

It was a routine letter from his bank calling his attention to some pending bank legislation.

Investigation showed that the check was payable to somebody else and had been enclosed in the letter by mistake.

PLEASING INFORMATION?

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Shientag denied an application for an injunction to restrain the American Tobacco Co. from using the jingle, "The Best Tunes of. All Move to Carnegie Hall," on the Information Please radio program.

The application was made by Daniel and Ann Golenpaul, co-partners of Daniel Golenpaul Associates, producers of Information Please.

They complained that use of the jingle—a "Teaser" for a new program to be presented by the tobacco company when the Information Please contract expires Feb. 5—was "low, vulgar and offensive" and harmed the property value of the Information Please program.

Justice Shientag ruled that under the contract the sponsor had the right to prepare all commercials and that the jingle was part of the commercial.

6-CENT MILK PLAN READY

Despite closing of the WPA distribution centers in Boston on Saturday, low-cost milk is now assured the city's needy families under a plan announced by Mayor Tobin.

Distribution of six-cent a quart milk will continue uninterrupted Monday with the start of a "coupon system," arranged by city officials through co-operation of the Dept. of Agriculture and the State Dept. of Public Welfare. A joint statement explaining the new set-up was issued.

"The present method of distributing milk at a cost of 6 cents per quart, which has been up to now on sale in depots set up by the public welfare department of the city of Boston, will be discontinued Jan. 30," the statement read.

"On Monday, Feb. 1, there will be sold at the food stamp stations which are now operating, books of coupons, each coupon having a value of 6 cents. The person now eligible to buy this low-cost milk will pay for these books upon purchase, at the rate of 6 cents for each person. For example, a person who is eligible to buy one quart may purchase a book of 15 coupons for 90 cents (a one-half month's supply) or a book of 30 coupons for $1.80 (a full month's supply)."

NAVY EASES PHYSICALS IN NEW POOL PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) —A joint system for drafting men for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the Coast Guard will go into effect next Monday.

Paul V. McNutt

The system, announced by Selective Service headquarters, means that men drafted will not know certainly which branch of service will claim them, but officials said individual preference would be "given the fullest consideration practicable."

Under the new draft plan, the armed services have agreed on a single set of physical standards for inductees. These were not announced, but officials said they were slightly higher than the Army's present ones. However, the Army will be allowed to take men it considers qualified even though they do not measure up to the joint standards.

Paul V. McNutt, manpower chief, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that manpower needs would require work or armed service this year from two out of every three Americans 15 years of age or older. He said there were about 100,000,000 persons in this age group and that the overall manpower need was 65,000,000.

The War Department said it had not suspended plans to discharge men 38 or older from the Army, but that they would be released only as trained replacements became available.

RESERVISTS FACE CALL

The War Department said that Air Corps enlisted reservists qualified for aviation cadet training would be called to active service before April 1 but that every effort would be made to regulate the call so as to enable college students to finish semesters for which they were enrolled Dec. 31.

The reservists will be assigned initially to Army Air Forces stations, going from there to selected colleges and universities for special courses.

The joint draft will operate in this manner:

Each service will tell National Selective Service headquarters how many men it will need during the month of February, for instance. Each state and local draft board then will be given a quota.

The men drafted will report to an induction station and an assignment board there will determine the service to which they will be assigned.

ACCORDING TO NEED

If fewer men are found physically fit than the total asked by all the services, those available will be apportioned according to the need of each service.

Registrants under the draft may continue to apply for induction ahead of the time when they would normally be called and may indicate the service they prefer. Selective Service said they would be assigned to the preferred service "insofar as they are qualified and vacancies exist," but cautioned that local draft boards should not give any man "positive assurance" he would be inducted into the designated service.

'JASPER' TRIAL DELAY SEEN

Although trial of Dr. Harry "Doc Jasper" Sagansky has been set for next Wednesday in the Boston rackets roundup, special pleas will be argued Monday attacking the constitutionality of the "fictitious lottery" statute under which he and 29 other defendants were indicted.

Judge Frank J. Donahue set the trial date after Asst. Atty.-Gen. William E. Hayes had moved for trial on Monday. However, Atty. James M. Graham, representing Sagansky, opposed so quick a trial and the court selected Wednesday.

Sagansky will be tried separately, and it is expected that arguments on the motion Monday will delay the trial of the others for some time.

Sagansky also faces trial in Middlesex superior court Feb. 8 on indictments charging him and James J. Carrigan, Malden gasoline station proprietor, with conspiracy to bribe Malden city officials.

Only remaining defendant who has not as yet been taken into custody in the group of Suffolk indictments is Harry Goodsnyder of Dorchester. Officials have been told that he had gone to Florida for his health.

RUML TAX PLAN FRIENDS GAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Congressional forces opposed to the presidential $25,000 salary limitations maneuvered today to attach a repealer to a bill raising the nation's debt limit. Thus they hope to force Mr. Roosevelt to back down on the salary ceiling or veto the new debt authorization.

This developed as the House ways and means committee opened hearings on a bill to lift the debt authority from $125,000,000,000 to $210,000,000,000.

Meanwhile, a substantial segment of lawmakers appeared to be leaning toward a compromise pay-as-you-earn plan which would cancel part of 1942 personal income taxes and put most of Uncle Sam's 40,000,000 individual income tax payers on a current basis quickly.

The Treasury was ready to protest vigorously against cancelling all 1942 personal income taxes, as proposed in the plan advanced by Beardsley Ruml, New York banker, but a high official indicated the money-handling department might be willing to erase last year's obligations for the lower income brackets — probably the normal 6 per cent tax and the first surtax bracket of 13 per cent, a 19 per cent total.

Intent on speedy enactment of a current payment principle, ways and means members sought today an agreement from the Senate that it would allow a pay-as-you-earn bill to whistle through without having it turned into a new general tax measure. The committee opens hearings Tuesday on current collection proposals for individual income taxes.

Randolph Paul, Treasury general counsel, re-emphasized today that, regardless of what action is taken on current basis plans, all income taxpayers must file their returns and pay the first quarterly installment of 1942 taxes on or before March 15.

FEAR OF GHOST BALKS COOK REACTING LOWER 13 MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29 (INS)—Because of fancied "ghosts," re-enactment of the throat-slashing murder in lower 13" will be delayed until authorities return the self-confessed killer to Albany, Ore., police said today.

Robert E. Folkes, 21, "zoot-suited" Negro cook who asserted-ly admitted plunging a knife into the throat of pretty Mrs. Martha Virginia James Saturday morning as she law sleeping in her train berth, flatly refused to re-enact the crime because of his superstitious fear of "ghosts."

Detective Capt. Vernon Rasmusson wanted to take Folkes to a sleeper in the Los Angeles railroad yards, so the cook could demonstrate how he slashed the throat of the 21-year-old Navy wife.

SAYS HE WAS DRUNK

"I won't do it," Folkes told Rasmusson, the officer related. "I'm afraid of that dead woman's ghost. No, sir!"

So Folkes was turned over to Clay E. Kirk, chief deputy sheriff of Lin County, Oregon, who arrived to return him North.

In his asserted confession, Folkes said that he was "half awake and half drunk when it came to me about this lower berth 13."

"I walked through the car when I boarded the train," the confession continued. "and I saw this girl sitting on her berth. I went to bed, and when I woke up later this came to my mind."

Folkes said: "I got a boning knife from the kitchen, sharpened it and slipped it into my sleeve. I walked past the girl's berth and unfastened a snap on the curtain. Each time I walked past I unsnapped another until the curtain was open.

CAN'T IDENTIFY KNIFE

"She woke up when I fell into the berth. I told her to keep still and never mind, ordering her to fasten the curtains. She asked me what I wanted. I said, 'it doesn't make any difference.' It was all in a fog to

"I reached her first with my right hand," police quoted Folkes as saying, "and then with my left hand . . . That was where I killed her . . . I pressed the knife harder . . . I guess I cut her."

Folkes was unable to identify the weapon when police confronted him with a collection of cutlery from the death train diner. "Any one of 'em," he said, "might be the one."

Ruled Innocent, Prison Gates Open

A man whom the full bench of the State Supreme Judicial Court ruled was convicted of a crime he did not commit was scheduled to walk out of State's Prison today a free man. He is Julius Bracy, of the South End, who already has served 13 months of a two and one-half year term imposed on morals charges.

The Supreme Court held that Bracy was convicted of something which did not constitute a crime. He was tried in November, 1941, with nine other men who were found not guilty.

The delay in considering Bracy's case, it was explained, was caused by the death, since his sentence, of Asst. Dist. Atty. William J. Sullivan, who prosecuted the case.

Ex-President Taft's Brother Dies at 81

WATERTOWN, Ct., Jan. 29 (AP)—Horace D. Taft, 81, brother of the late President William Howard Taft, and founder and for almost 50 years headmaster of the Taft School for Boys, is dead at his home near the school after being seriously ill for only a day.

Originally intending to be a lawyer, Taft changed his mind after practising a year in his native Cincinnati, and set out to devote his life to education. He founded his school with 10 pupils in 1890 and in 1936 became headmaster emeritus of one of the leading preparatory schools of the country.

SOLONS PROBE LEND-LEASE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) —A penetrating Congressional examination of the greatest swapping arrangement in all history—the lend-lease act—appeared certain today as the House Foreign Affairs Committee opened public hearings on continuing the program for another year.

Eventual approval of extending the act until July, 1944, seemed assured. Republican leaders in both House and Senate have declared they will not oppose wartime continuance of an act which has sent billions of dollars' worth of supplies to the Allies.

But there were demands for a detailed accounting of just where and why the money has been spent.

Rep. Jones (R) of Ohio raised on the House floor a few of the questions upon which attention will be focused in the coming debate.

He contended that "thousands of cases of beer, rayon stockings, and powderpuffs" had been shipped abroad and paid for by lend-lease money. Moreover, he maintained on the basis of "reliable information" that some of the shipments went to private persons.

Lend-lease officials promptly denied his statements concerning beer and powder puffs. As to the rayon hose, they said they were compelled to buy a small quantity in order to obtain a supply of cotton stockings requested by Lieut.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for distribution to civilians in North Africa. The warehouses holding the cotton stockings, they said, insisted that lend-lease also clear out their rayon hose.

He said, too, that this nation had received no assurances that planes turned over to other countries as lend-lease aid would not be used commercially after the war in competition with the United States.

Rep. Bloom (D.) of New York, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, later described Jones' remarks as "ill-advised at this time" and contended they were "obviously made for political purposes." He said Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius would be called as the first witness.

2 More Fore River Ships Ready for Dip

Two more landing ships are scheduled for launching at the Fore River shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., on Sunday, yard officials said today.

Their announcement followed the launching—four days ahead of schedule—of a similar ship which was christened by Mrs. Frederick C. Sachse, wife of Capt. Sachse, commandant of the naval air station at South Weymouth. Sponsors at the Sunday launchings will be Mrs. H. C. Pierce, wife of the commandant of Marine detail at the Boston Navy Yard, and Mrs. Edward T. Dobbyn, wife of the Navy's chief architect at Fore River.

DEATHS, SCORES OF INJURIES ABANDONED CARS IN BLIZZARD

ton hotels. North and South Stations, and many police stations, also proved havens from the storm.

ALL SCHOOLS CLOSE

All schools throughout the metropolitan area were closed today.

Several out-of-place incidents were reported while the storm raged at its height:

Two men staged a rough-and-tumble fight at the Neponset street car station, each managing to toss the other into a snowpile.

Two Warren ave. patrolmen came upon a little wanderer of four, hatless and coatless, making her uncertain way through the storm on Tremont st. She was Ramona Matagonus of Porter st., South End, who had escaped the watchful eye of an older brother.

Skids in the snow were blamed for an auto crash at Columbus ave. and Cedar sts., Roxbury Crossing.

In one machine, a taxicab, were John C. Powers, 46, of Canterbury st., Roslindale, the driver; Frederick Dow, 48, of Montgomery st., South End, and Miss Mary Woodman, 26, of Hyde Park ave., Forest Hills, his passengers. All were taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Occupants of the second car were Mr. and Mrs. George E. Murphy of West Brookline st., South End, treated at the New England Hospital for various cuts and bruises.

Osborne Wingate, 42, of Chester st., Watertown, an "EI" employe, suffered a severe ear laceration when a snowplough cable snapped at Commonwealth and Brighton aves. The backlashing wire struck him on the side of his head, nearly severing his left ear. He was removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The weight of snow on the awning of a Hancock st., Quincy, store caused the frame to collapse. In its fall it struck the window and smashed it, spilling into the street a number of dummy forms clad in attractive women's coats and dresses.

On the same street, not far distant, an Eastern Massachusetts bus skidded and struck a fire alarm telegraph pole, sounding a fire alarm. Fire apparatus on the way through the drifts was turned back.

MANY ACCIDENTS

Accidents due to the slippery condition of walks and highways were numerous. Seven persons were treated as the result of falls in Cambridge hospitals. In Quincy, Effie Demars, 55, of North st., North Weymouth, was struck by an automobile and was taken to the Weymouth Hospital. Her injuries were said not to be serious.

Robert Williamson, 12, of Alma ave., Belmont, fell while crossing the street near his home and was struck by a taxicab out of control as he lay there. He was taken to Cambridge Hospital suffering from a fractured left leg.

Taken to the same hospital was John Cappadona, 11, of Dartmouth st., injured leg, from a fall. At the Cambridge City Hospital John Barry, 38, of Richdale ave., Cambridge, was treated for an injured ankle; Richard McElearney, 8, was held for treatment of a possible fractured right elbow; Joseph Gallagher, 11, of Columbia st., treated for a cut over his left eye, and James Atlarian, 15, of Norfolk st., a possible fractured right wrist, and Mrs. Annie Bartholomew, of No. Beacon st., Watertown, treated for a fractured left arm, all due to falls.

Dead in Storm

HAROLD E. HAYDEN, 47, of Chelmsford, collapsed while trying to get help after automobile stalled.

ALFRED J. CAVANAUGH, 40, of Weir Cliff, Hingham, fatally injured when struck by an automobile.

EDMUND CADIEUX, 48, of Marlboro, died while attempting to shovel automobile out of snowdrift.

LOUIS W. BISHOP, 60, of Manville, R. I., killed in auto crash at Tyngsboro, near New Hampshire line.

MELVIN C. ANGELL, 58, of Gilbertville, succumbed while struggling through blizzard on way home.

TIMOTHY L. O'CONNELL, 48, of Railroad st., Newburyport, collapsed while shovelling snow at home.

ALF HELLSTROM, 51, of Cedar st., Dedham, collapsed while walking in Columbia rd., South Boston.

HUGE JAP BUDGET

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, reported today in a Tokyo dispatch that the Japanese cabinet had approved budget expenditures of 12,344,000,000 yen for the coming fiscal year, exclusive of sums to be set aside for military purposes.

SNOWLOADING LABOR SCARCE

Lack of manpower was quickly noted today as Boston began digging its way out of the 12.8 inches of snow.

City Highway Engineer William T. Morrissey pointed out that while he had 73 snowloaders, many of them were held up for several hours at a time because of the lack of trucks and chauffeurs.

Augmenting the regular city highway staff of laborers, 12 contracting companies were being used. These contractors also reported difficulties in obtaining sufficient help.

"But the public seems to realize our problem," declared Morrissey, "and we have had mighty few complaints."

Stalled in Drifts, Doctors Wait Turns

At Weymouth Hospital cars of four physicians were stuck in drifted driveways today. Appeals for snowplows to extricate them were met with "You'll just have to wait your turn."

SNOW SNARLS WAR PLANTS

War plants of Greater Boston sufffered loss of many man-hours as a result of traffic tangles and slow moving transportation fighting the deep snow drifts.

At the Hingham plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. men coming off the night shift and those entering for the day shift became hopelessly tangled in snow clogged roads leading to the plant.

Delays of one to three hours were reported by workers who finally made their way in.

At Fore River the great parking lot was filled with snow and many workers found their cars buried deep in piles thrown up by men who had dug out previously.

One lane traffic held up many and necessitated re-routing of workers entering and leaving the plant.

Boston Navy Yard in Charlestown also reported workers had difficulty making their way along the narrow winding streets of the City sq. section where drifts and piled banks of snow slowed progress.

Numerous plants reported absentee lists running into the hundreds—many workers calling to say they were unable to obtain transportation.

In numerous cases workers who started out bravely to drive stalled after getting part way.

Others taxed transportation systems to capacity and many delays were reported.

DRIFTS SLOW TRAINS, BUSES; CAPITAL EXPRESS HOUR LATE

Trains, buses and trolleys were brought almost to a standstill by the raging storm which piled deep drifts on right-of-ways and highways, froze switches, and stalled autos in the vehicles' paths.

Delays as long as an hour were reported by the New York, New Haven & Hartford line. The crack Merchants' Limited from Washington arrived in South Station nearly an hour late.

A frozen switch today at Braintree blocked South Shore trains and thousands of commuters were 30 minutes to several hours late arriving in Boston.

LOCOMOTIVE DERAILED

The New England Transportation Co. cancelled all buses north of Connecticut shortly after six last night. Officials reported schedules were resumed this morning but many were running from 10 to 30 minutes late.

Boston & Maine trains experienced their worst difficulty when a locomotive was derailed at Wilmington.

For more than an hour, commuter trains from Winchester, West Medford, Wedgemere and Medford Hillside were delayed.

Through trains were stopped at those points to pick up passengers going to North Station.

Officials of all transportation lines reported conditions "almost normal" just before noon.

The overnight Owl train to New York was 30 minutes late leaving South Station.

WAR WORKERS STALLED

Eastern Massachusetts lines reported that 20 motor coaches were stalled in drifts near Fore River shipyards.

Minor delays on Boston Elevated lines were caused by frozen switches and derailments. Surface cars left the trakc at Berkeley and Tremont sts., and at Washington and Northampton sts., both in the South End.

The only serious tie-up resulted when an "El" snowplow was stalled in the Fields Corner station yard. Cars were halted for more than 50 minutes.

A Plymouth-bound passenger train was held up over an hour when a truck skidded into it at a private crossing near Monponsett.

The truck wedged itself between two cars and workmen labored 45 minutes to extricate it. The driver, John Dias of Monponsett, escaped serious injury.

STORK BRINGS 6 IN BLIZZARD

Weymouth Hospital Busy in Stormy Night

Five girls and a lone lad laughed at the swirling snows and wintry blasts as they arrived at the Weymouth Hospital, escorted by Doc Stork, during the blizzard's height.

The mothers who welcomed the young damsels are Mrs. Flora L. Downey of Lake st., East Weymouth; Mrs. Alice E. Clapp of Randolph st., South Weymouth; Mrs. Dorothy Cossin of Columbian st., South Weymouth; Mrs. Emily Litchfield of Cushing st., Hingham, and Mrs. Irene Thibault of Talbot st., South Weymouth. Mrs. Mary Quinlan of St. Margaret st., East Weymouth, is the mother of the boy.

At Boston City Hospital only one birth was recorded during the storm. Mrs. Vincentina Balbone of Cambridge st., Charlestown, won her race with the stork and arrived at the hospital shortly before birth of her seven pound baby boy.

A Cambridge woman, Mrs. Virginia Cunningham, 24, of Buena Vista pk., battled alone through the deep snow on foot to Richdale ave., shortly after 3 a. m to ask police aid in reaching the hospital.

Before a cruiser car could reach the garage from which she phoned, friends took her to Somerville Hospital where she gave birth to a 7¼-pound girl.

OH, HORSEFEATHERS!

Farmer Hoots WPB Horseshoe Advice

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Back on the farm, says Rep. Flannagan (D.) of Virginia, "horseshoes is still horseshoes" and "rhetoric and a Harvard accent have darn little to do with them."

He called his colleagues' attention to "an illuminating, learned treatise" on horseshoes received from the War Production Board by the operators of hardware stores at Bistol, Va., who had appealed for help in obtaining horseshoes.

Flannagan quoted:

"'The 75 per cent quota for horseshoes when applied to the 1940-41 average as a base will yield 92 per cent as many new shoes as were produced in 1942.

"'This available production can be much further extended in supplying urgent 1943 needs for food production and other activities essential to the war effort by:

"'(1) More "resets" to get more wear out of available shoes;

"'(2) Elimination of uses obviously nonproductive;

"'(3) Elimination of unessential styles;

CAN TAKE THEM OFF

"'(4) Horse owners can, in many cases, save shoes by removing the shoes immediately after a period of necessary road work."

The Congressman said the author was Edward R. Gay who, "I am informed, is a resident of the city of New York, educated at Harvard, and prior to becoming attached to the government on June 15, 1942, was vice-president of St. Regis Paper Co. of New York city."

"A splendid background for one selected to administer the machinery and parts program for the farmers of America," Flannagan said.

While the question of "resets" confused him at first, the Virginian said, he later figured out that the matter of changing shoes from left to right foot or from front to back was simple if the horse was knockkneed or sluefooted.

SUGGESTS ZIPPERS

As to the second rule Flannagan declared a farmer wishing to attend Sunday services would first have to "run down to the barn and put a fresh batch of straw in old Dobbin's stall to cushion her dear tootsie wootsies against the hardness of mother earth, and then hoof it to church."

He said he was especially pleased to note, in connection with the third rule, that pointed toes, box toes, low quarters, patent leathers or tan shoes are out.

Flannagan said he presumed there were zipper horseshoes available now to carry out the final WPB suggestion—to remove the shoes immediately after hard work.

REPORT NEW PEACE FEELER

LONDON, Jan. 29 (INS)—New rumors of Axis peace "feelers" were reported in London today, despite official and emphatic denials that any peace offer had been received prior to or during the Casablanca conference.

The Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent wrote that "there is every indication Germany will launch a new and more determined peace offensive in the very near future."

"President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill," said the correspondent, "must have had this in mind when describing the Casablanca meeting as an unconditional surrender conference."

The paper quoted "reliable information from inside Germany as "hinting" that in capitals where German agents are at work, it is indicated that "a new peace appeal is on the way."

Yugoslav officials said the extent of the patriot general's activities and the growing fear that Yugoslavia will be the theater of a second front in Europe probably occasioned the warning, which threatened Serbians with stern penalties.

RAF Again Raids Japs' Burma Island

NEW DELHI, Jan. 29 (AP)—RAF fliers are continuing their pounding of Akyab Island, the British disclosed today, with two night raids and a series of day raids noted in a communique on action in Western Burma.

Bombers attacked objectives on the island Wednesday night, bombers and fighters swept over the area yesterday and again last night the Akyab zone was raided, the British reported. On land action, the war bulletin reported only that the usual patrols were conducted along the Arakan coast, north of Akyab.

26-Mile U. S. Shot Sent Jean Bart to Its Doom

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—A radio-directed salvo from an American battleship 26 miles away destroyed beyond repair the resisting French battleship Jean Bart during the North African invasion, Rear Admiral Stanford C. Hooper has revealed.

"The deadly accuracy of firing by one of our battleships which destroyed the Jean Bart at Casablanca was made possible by radio communication," Hooper, Navy consultant for radio and underwater sound equipment, told the Institute of Radio Engineers yesterday.

"As the first blast from our big guns, 26 miles away, struck the resisting French battleship, an observation planef lashed back the word of a direct hit on the deck, a damaging but not a fatal blow," he declared.

"A slight change in elevation was signaled for. The next salvo struck the side of the ship at the waterline, smashing her hull beyond repair. Radio directed and reported the destruction."

Nazi Wolfpack Off Americas

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Goaded apparently to desperation by ever-lengthening United States convoy routes, the Axis sent a wolfpack of submarines against an escorted fleet of merchant ships off the South American coast this month and blasted four American vessels to the bottom.

Twenty-five men were lost and 28 others were missing. Some of the missing were believed to be safe. The sinkings raised to 608 the reported number of United Nations and neutral ships lost in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

It was the first wolfpack action reported in the western Atlantic waters, and news of it, told here by survivors with Navy permission, lent emphasis to warnings by high government officials that the submarine menace remains great.

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 29 (INS)—Allied bombers smashed at Japanese bases on a 1200-mile front from Amboina to New Britain island, an Allied communique reported today. The Japanese retaliated with a weak raid on Merauke on the south shore of New Guinea. Enemy float planes dropped two bombs in a swamp area.

Allied bombers blasted enemy bases in five areas. Attacks were made on Wewak, Finschhafen and Mubo, in New Guinea, on three points on New Britain island, on the Fuiloro airdrome on Timor, on the Binnen bay district of Amboina, and on the Aroe islands south of New Guinea.

Small enemy vessels were bombed and machine-gunned at Open Bay and Wide Bay on New Britain island. One cargo ship was damaged by near hits and another small ship capsized during the attack. A Japanese-held coastal village was machine-gunned.

One of five Zero fighters attempting to intercept a formation of heavy bombers was shot down, and an enemy float plane was destroyed in the attack on Dubo, in the Aroe islands.

DORIS DUKE TURNS FARMER

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Jan. 29 (INS)—In line with the war effort, Doris Duke Cromwell's 2300-acre estate near here, is being converted into a general livestock farm, it was revealed today. Pure bred cattle will be raised in addition to dairy herds.

Nazis Admit They Can Lose Led by Hitler

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (INS)—The British radio, in a broadcast recorded by CBS here, quoted a German newspaper as having warned:

"It is high time for us to understand a war can be lost even if it has been led in the most favorable circumstances."

The German newspaper comment, according to the broadcast, was reported by the Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper, Svenska Dagbladet.

"If the enemy strikes at us because we leave our flank open to his assault," the paper said, "he will deal us a mortal blow which will bring about the defeat of Germany."

Hitler's high command again painted a gloomy picture of the vast struggle, noting that German troops at Stalingrad were suffering "the greatest privations"

Gold Star ★ Heroines

By ALICE BISSELL

IT WAS A BRIGHT DAY just before Christmas in 1941, and in an Everett home there was all the hustle and bustle of Christmas in a big family. They hung a wreath in the front window and in the house there were sounds of secret gifts being wrapped.

War had just come upon us. On December 18, Richard C. Babb, 22-year-old son of Mrs. Lillian Babb of Hosmer st., enlisted in the Navy. It was exciting. He was the first in his office to "join up." It was hard to have him go, but the real American spirit was there.

"I'm going to get the Japs," he said to his mother.

This year another wreath hung in the window . . . along with a flag bearing three blue stars for three sons in the armed forces. Christmas would be more solemn, but it would be Christmas.

Gifts were sent months ahead to the boys. On December 18, Mrs. Babb was busy preparing for the holiday in her home. Cards and packages were arriving.

On December 18, exactly a year from the time he left

MRS. LILLIAN BABB, GOLD STAR MOTHER

Son Died Carrying Out His Threat "To Get the Japs"

home to enlist, a telegram arrived announcing that Richard, seaman, first class, had been killed in action.

Yes, he had gotten the Japs. But he had died doing it.

"I thought I would die when I got the news," said Mrs. Babb, a widow and mother of seven other children.

"I felt that the war was over as far as I was concerned. I did not think I could stand the loss."

The flag in the window was taken down and the middle star was sewed over with gold.

"But you cannot know what it was like, to suffer through Christmas the loss of a son on the battlefront," Mrs. Babb said. "Just when I thought it would be impossible to carry on, it came to me in a great burst of hope . . . the true meaning of Christmas."

The Babb family tried their best to celebrate the day as they previously had.

"A grandson was born November 29," Mrs. Babb continued. "Another grandson was born December 30. I knew I must live for my family and keep my home as I always had. I knew I must keep strong for more sorrow that might come. Richard's twin, David, is in the Navy at sea. My son, William, is a Navy chaplain.

"But observing Christmas, as we always had, taught me, and can teach others a great truth. We who have lost our sons or loved ones must keep on doing as we always did. I must see people, go places, and keep up my housework just as though he would come home."

RICHARD C. BABB

Killed in Action

Mrs. Babb's message is to people in the future.

"Time, I suppose, will give us a philosophy. But my prayers are to future fighters, those who will fight for peace and a better world. Tell them not to forget our boys' lives, and not to forget the individual families and the grief here and the hopes our sons had when they enlisted. Tell them to lay down their lives if they must for the peace, and to work harder than they are now even . . . so that no mother again will ever see her son die in battle."

Mrs. Babb has found consolation in reading and in religion.

"Each one of us must feel that we are together, and that we are only part of this world struggle, and part of the battle for freedom which has been going on, and with just as many tears, for centuries.

"Nothing I say to gold star mothers and wives would be of such comfort as the following abstract from a letter Lincoln wrote to a Boston woman when her five sons were killed in the Civil War:

"I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

Cursed be the man,

The crouching vassal
To the tyrant wife.
Were such a wife had fallen to my part,
I'd break her spirit, or I'd break her heart.
—BURNS.

ABOVE is an excerpt from the poem "The Henpecked Husband." Burns, who had a great love for women, had an even greater love of independence. The sight of a henpecked husband saddened and maddened him. Some women nag and dominate their husbands because that is their nature, others do so because they hope it will arouse some manhood in a meek mate. Or so the research of our horses and women department indicates.

IN SOME MANHATTAN hat stores for men they have "oomph girl" saleswomen. According to one of these saleswomen the line that clinches most sales of hats to gullible males is: "It makes you look quite rakish" . . . My favorite musical combination is a string quartette. I can listen to that kind of music for hours. My favorite single instrument is the piano . . . The U. S. Army and U. S. Marines have different ways of throwing hand grenades. Each branch of the service claims its method of grenade tossing is the best. How about a contest? . . . One of the best songs for a throaty voiced band canary to sing is "Sweet Madness." Title of that song would also make a very good title for a film. Consider the billing: "Robert Taylor and Hedy Lamarr in 'Sweet Madness.'" It's a natural!

SIDELIGHTS: "How can you say red-haired women are above the average in intelligence," writes a New Orleans brunette, "when the fact is that not one red-head in 100,000 has intelligence enough to choose clothes that match her hair. It seems that nature when giving a woman such beautiful hair should also have given her enough brains to appreciate it and get the most from it." . . . All three young women applying for jobs as elevator operators at New York police headquarters said they were 20 years of age. They were hired. A week later it was learned that none of the girls was over 17. If such experienced men as police officials can't tell within 3 years what a woman's age is what chance has the average man of so doing? All women under 21 should be compelled to carry birth certificates.

PLEASE NOTE: San Francisco's law makers have passed an ordinance making it illegal for any citizen "to permit a dog or any other animal to commit a nuisance in any park or public place or on any sidewalk or street." This legislation is going to be very tough on dog owners. But as the ordinance clearly states "a dog or any other animal" it is going to be even tougher on horse owners. It would also seem that the members of San Francisco's mounted police force face what may prove a baffling problem.

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q—Did Bob Hope and Jimmy Durante once play in the same musical comedy? A—Bob, Jimmy and Ethel Merman played in the musical, "Red, Hot and Blue." Q—So they are going to have the Kentucky Derby in 1943. Who will win it? A—Hey, mister don't rush me. Right now I can only say it will be Count Fleet, Thumbs Up or True Blue. Q—What kind of a plane used by the U. S. forces is that called "The Flying Jeep?" A—This plane is officially known as the Piper Cub. Is the world's most cheaply constructed fighting plane. Costs about $525 to build. It has been used to guide artillery action in North Africa.

ASIDES: A Manhattan mind reader claims to have read the minds of Ginger Rogers and Joan Crawford. Recalls that a New York mind reader once offered to teach me mind reading. I was going to accept the offer but then I thought if it got around that I was a mind reader nobody would play poker with me . . . It's been raining in our vicinity for three days with no sign of a letup. Remember that song "Riding Around in the Rain?" That was written before the tire shortage. With all the smooth tired cars on the streets and highways now riding around in the rain is no fun. Even the taxi drivers are now nervous on rainy nights.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: In World War I the only Hollywoodian with star billing to join the armed forces was "Buster" Keaton . . . Am informed that many feminine workers in British aircraft factories work 53 hours a week for the equivalent of $15 a week . . . Beauty shops must be doing a terrific business. My girl friend says the one she patronizes has four girls to do nothing but handle appointments. This place has 59 operators of which 10 are men hairdressers. Men hairdressers seem very popular with female seekers after beauty. However, so-called "lady barbers" have never made much headway with the male clients of tonsorial establishments.

PASSING BY: Dr. Thomas Mann. Eminent author. One of the few famous men who wear wedding rings . . . Virginia Valli. Once a film star. She's a Chicago girl. Her real name is Virginia McSweeney Farrell. Her husband is the Charles Farrell who played with Janet Gaynor in "Seventh Heaven" . . . Rosalind Madison. Career woman. She is working on a book titled "My Employers: Past and Present." That is a subject which can be made very interesting as was shown in that book a Hollywood secretary wrote about her producer employer, titled, "I Lost My Girlish Laughter." Have always thought that book would make the basis of a hilarious film. Jean Arthur could play the secretary.

FINDS BRITAIN, CHINA, RUSSIA TEACH US LESSON IN UNITY

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, THURSDAY—I spent yesterday evening at the Jewish Community Center USO Club. They are inaugurating a series of Wednesday evening programs dedicated to the Allied nations. Last evening was the opening night.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, spoke, and then some British movies, descriptive of the life of the people in Great Britain and their total war effort, were shown. I was glad to tell them a little of my own experiences.

Even from pictures, it is hard to realize what it means for a whole nation to unite as completely as they have done in Great Britain in fighting this war. It is so far away from us that we still have very little notion of what a completely mobilized nation can accomplish.

CHINA, OF COURSE, knows, and Russia knows. Some one who has just returned from Russia, was telling me the other day what extraordinary work the women there are doing, often the type of hard labor which we associate with strong men. Again it is a question of necessity driving them.

My eldest son told me long ago how much impressed he was in China that, because of the lack of machinery,

BILLIE BURKE WON'T want for pocket money when she arrives in Boston . . . By leasing the rights to her late, famous husband's "Ziegfeld Follies," Miss Burke places herself on the weekly payroll of that extravaganza . . . (She gets a percentage of the gross receipts, which is always a nicer arrangement than sharing in the profits) . . . Her salary in "This Rock," which opens Monday at the Plymouth, under the direction and management of Eddie Dowling, is said to be one of the highest paid to a star in years . . . Notwithstanding the lovable red-haired actress's fluttery, flighty stage, screen and radio personalities, Miss Burke has always been an intelligent business woman.

WHEN THE FLUCTUATING career of the great Ziegfeld swooped down into its valleys, the beautiful Ziegfeld estate at Hastings-on-Hudson, where Miss Burke resided in part compensation for her retirement from the stage, never lacked money to pay the servants . . . Flo Ziegfeld's concern for Billie Burke Ziegfeld and Patricia, their daughter, was legendary . . . Little Patricia drew one per cent of the gross receipts of all Ziegfeld shows, and backers of Ziegfeld shows accepted this initial lien on their investment as part of the pact . . . When Ziggy had three lavish musicals playing Broadway at the same time, this one per cent item was important . . .

CRAIG REYNOLDS UNDER JAP FIRE FOR 65 DAYS

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29—We knew him as Craig Reynolds in Hollywood. He was getting along beautifully in his screen career at Warners in pictures like "Ceiling Zero" when the war came along. Under his real name, Hugh Enfield, he enlisted with the Marines and rose to the rank of lieutenant.

BARBARA PEPPER

And the story we have just heard about Lieut. Hugh Enfield is every bit as exciting as any make-believe war thriller Craig Reynolds ever played in the movies. He was one of the first Marines landed on Guadalcanal and for 65 days he was under fire from Jap guns. But his luck held—he wasn't injured and today his girl back home in Hollywood confirmed some news that would make him mighty happy.

Barbara Pepper, pretty blonde movie actress, admitted she is engaged to Craig—pardon us, Lieut. Enfield—and that they will be married as soon as he returns to this country. Barbara, meanwhile, is doing all right in her movie career, having just completed "Girls in Chains," an Atlantis picture and "Henry Aldrich Plays Cupid."

A FIRST HAND STORY of what some one has seen is always so much more real than something that one reads. I hope that as people come back from Russia and China, they will tour the country and tell us in person what they have observed.

WHEN I WAS IN RED BANK, N. J., the other day, they were using their USO program to serve the girls and women, most of them civilians who have come to work in the Signal Corps laboratory from all parts of the country. Again, last night, I found that girl government workers here formed the corps of hostesses for the USO group I was with, and the club house was also open to men government workers.

I am very glad to see this done because it brings together the service men and the other workers in the war effort and gives them all a feeling that they are functioning together to achieve one aim.

WE ARE ALSO ATTRACTING men and women to many of these USO centers, who are over here from Allied countries, and that, I think, is a help.

It gives us a feeling of unity in our common struggle, which I hope will encourage friendship which will be the foundation on which to build the future peace.

A musical hit in Ziegfeld's day, when $5 50 was the accepted price for orchestra seats, would average $30,000 a week without too much straining . . Ziegfeld company managers remitted these weekly sums regularly, as they did authors' and composers' royalties . . . And the lamented master of the glorified musical show never touched the percentage allotted to his child.

IN BACK OF THE STORY that Walter O'Keefe is coming for one night (tonight) to the Copley Plaza, vice Paul Draper, the dancer, is at a Russian War Relief Fund benefit in New York . . . Draper gave a promise weeks ago that he would co-star with Larry Adler, the harmonica virtuoso . . . Obviously nor a function designed for the proletariat, the New York affair apparently has been cast on so high a cultural and un-earthy plane that no attention was paid the somewhat prosaic fact that Draper was playing out a contract in Boston . . . When his press department called Chauncey Depew Steele's attention to advertisements in the New York press, Mr. Steele, who manages the Copley Plaza, summoned Mr. Draper for a conference . . .

THE ARTISTIC Mr. Draper honestly was unaware that his manager hadn't made arrangements with the Boston hostelry to disengage him for the night . . . A compromise was effected hastily . . . Mr. Draper hired Mr. O'Keefe to take his place . . . There was also the matter of advertising (to let Boston know that Walter O'Keefe was about to be in our midst for a one-night stand) . . . It was agreed that Mr. Draper and the hotel would share this cost . . . The cost to Mr. Draper, net, is $1000—give or take a few dollars . . Paul Draper fans are plentiful in Boston . . . A nephew of the great Ruth Draper, Paul has no imitators . . . His particular copyrighted blend of tap and ballet is almost inimitable . . . Oh yes, Ray Bolger might do a worthy carbon of the Draper style . . . But why should the marvellous Mr. Bolger undertake to copy anybody? . . . One of the slim Dorchester dancer's constant headaches is discouraging imitators of himself . . . His recipe for this is simple . . . He works six or seven hours at a stretch (when the mood moves him) in making himself too adept to imitate.

BILLIE BURKE

Won't Want for Pocket Money While in Hub

THE ACTIVE, aggressive and charitable Variety Club of Boston, of which Marty Mullin is Chief Barker, outdid itself in honoring its charter-member Lou Walters, associate producer of the "Ziegfeld Follies" . . . Lou's love for show-business, in his salad, or pre-Latin Quarter days (when he could at least enjoy a seven-course dinner if he wished) was so great that he was almost a fixture at the old Friars Club . . . (The Variety Club grew out of the Friars Club) . . . Lou was always sure of meeting kindred souls at the Friars, where the talk unendingly dwelled on the theater and motion pictures . . . These same kindred souls made the honorary dinner to Producer Walters a memorable event of its kind.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: An old-fashioned New England preventive against falling on ice was in evidence during the recent 'slippery spell" . . . The preventive consists of fastening a strip of adhesive tape to the soles of rubbers . . . As rubbers get worn the adhesive tape device is recommended . . . A thought though, is adhesive tape plentiful still? . . . The Mayfair has been re-done throughout, but an opening—or re-opening date has not been set yet . . . The tabloid revue, "Baily-laffs of 1943," is doing remarkable business at The Beachcomber . . . A set of bad circumstances, the weather prominent among the evil portents, has made the going quite rough of late for the mine-hosts of the wine, song, girls, and dance spots . . . Exceptions are the hotels, and most of the night clubs you see mentioned or advertised in the amusement pages of the Record-American . . . (Ask the men who've bought the ads!)

DAME MAY WHITTY, who very wittily said, when asked how she happened to come into pictures, "by invitation," has been invited to be a permanent guest at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Louis B. Mayer, who has been looking for an actress about the age of Marie Dressler to play comedy and dramatic roles, has signed her on a term contract. Today she started in "Madame Curie" with her close friend, Greer Garson. She was also in "Mrs. Miniver." When Dame May and her husband, Ben Webster, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary we were all invited to a garden party given at the Garson home to commemorate the event.

LIZ TILTON knows now the meaning of the words "the show must go on." She is singing nightly at the Biltmore Bowl and just before she was ready to appear Wednesday night she received word that her husband, Bruce Hoffine, who has been on a firing front, was seriously injured in battle. No details were given and the letter, which came from Washington, stated he had been injured Dec. 29. She had just received a letter dated Christmas Day saying he lived for the day he could return to her. They were only married a short time. Our sympathy goes to Liz and our admiration for her bravery, for only did she break after she had sung her song—and then she collapsed.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Walter Abel plays a very clever caricature of his boss, B. G. De Sylva in "Star Spangled Rhythm." All in fun, of course. I'm sure nothing ever happened to Buddy as ridiculous as the fate of the poor "vice-president in charge of production" in the movie. But Walter does such a superlative job as the studio boss that Buddy swears this is true: The other day at a press luncheon a wise-cracking femme scribe walked up to Buddy and said: "Is it true that you are playing Walter Abel in his next movie?"

A LINE OR TWO: Eva Gabor is back in Hollywood after really having herself a whirl in New York. I know, because when I was there Eva had even blase Broadwayites sitting up and noticing. She has two Hollywood deals on the fire—a test for a long term contract with David Selznick and also she's up for a good part in Sonja Henie's next at 20th . . . For years Jerome Cowan has been collecting rare wines and storing the bottles in his cellar. Then the rains came, flooded the cellar, washed off the labels and now poor Jerome doesn't know a bottle of champagne from red ink . . . Maxie Rosenbloom ran into Arthur Caesar at Mike Lyman's. Arthur said: "I don't want to talk to you about too many things at once, Maxie—just the things you know. How are you?" . . . Belita, the star ice skater, made a picture for Monogram called "Silver Skater."

CUSTOMER ALWAYS RIGHT?

Not Any More! Had You Noticed?

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—A major war casualty on the home front is the cherished business policy that "the customer is always right."

With patrons plentiful and help scarce, the public is becoming accustomed to taking—and liking—treatment that would have warranted the pink slip in bygone days. A few examples of this revolution in public relations that have turned up in Chicago are:

A suitcase laden passenger, boarding an Elevated train for a strange destination, told the conductor, "I'd like to get off at Belmont ave."

"Well, go right ahead, Buddy; nobody'll stop you," was the reply.

A grocery customer finished off his order with "and two pounds of coffee, please."

"I can let you have only one pound," the clerk told him.

"But I have two stamps," the customer protested.

"So write me a letter," the clerk yawned.

A bowler, anxious to keep his game moving as fast as his opponent's on another alley, began signaling the pin-boy to speed up setting the pins. The signals only slowed down the boy; he left the pins lying in the pit and the bowler standing nervously. After about five minutes of this silent treatment, the pin-boy yelled:

"Now, fella, if you've got that hurry-up feeling out of your system, I'll set your pins."

A housewife went to her neighborhood market repeatedly trying to buy something besides pork, the only meat the dealer had to offer.

By Saturday she had despaired of buying anything else and greeted the dealer with, "Well, I guess I'll finally have to take some of that pork."

"Today, lady, you gotta take steak or nothing," he told her.

Divorcee Puts Former Name Above Alimony

Told to choose between alimony and a request to resume her former marriage name, Mrs. Nellie Miskins of North Beacon st., Allston, chose the name in Suffolk Probate Court today.

She told Judge Frederick J. Dillon it meant more to her than receiving support from her husband, Paul Miskins of Blue Hill ave., Mattapan.

Mrs. Miskins testified her husband had bought a wrist watch and a fur coat for another woman—and then asked her to pay for them. She also told the court of finding letters from other women in her husband's pockets.

Judge Dillon granted the divorce on grounds of cruelty and permitted her the name of Swanson by a former marriage.

U. S. Flier Takes Champagne Bath

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Lieut. O. V. August, 27, naval flier from Whittier, Cal., who participated in the North African landing operations, took a champagne bath in Casablanca.

After his plane was downed he was taken prisoner and lodged for one night in an [illegible] horse stable where he "caught a beautiful case of cooties."

Released he went to a Casablanca hotel, and figuring alcohol would be good disinfectant, he bought several bottles of champagne at 17 cents a quart and bathed in it.

JEWEL THIEF HUNTED

'MA' STREETER, MARINE CORPS RESERVE HEAD, SKILLED PILOT

By JANE COCHRAN

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Jan. 29 (INS)—It's the proud boast of the Marine Corps that they're at home on land or sea—and in the air.

And Mrs. Thomas W. Streeter, reportedly slated to head the newly formed women's reserve of the Marine Corps, can live up to tradition.

Mrs. Streeter

Lawyer, pilot, war worker, community leader, wife and mother, this 47-year-old Morristown woman has endeared herself to thousands of service men and earned the affectionate title of "Ma."

Hearty and outspoken, with an utter disregard for anything stodgy, and an amazing capacity for hard work, Mrs. Streeter describes herself simply as "an average housewife, getting on to being an old lady."

100 SOLO AIR HOURS

The modesty of that description is shown by her record:

She learned to fly in 1940, now has more than 100 solo hours to her credit and only recently resigned from her post as adjutant of the New Jersey Civil Air Patrol.

As chairman of the Ft. Dix citizen committee, she provided a special soldiers' meeting and recreation center, one of the first established in this country.

She was made an honorary member of the 126th Observation Squadron at Dix in recognition of her activities and was presented with a shield last March by Col. Cassius M. Dowell, inscribed "For Loyal and Untiring Work."

She's a former vice-president of the Morris County Welfare Board and a leader in community work.

But Mrs. Streeter is still proudest of the title of "wife and mother."

3 SONS TO SERVICE

Wife of a retired banker now active in Red Cross work, Mrs. Streeter has two sons already in the Navy and a third, Thomas, who will soon be called to active duty with the Army. He is in the Army enlisted reserve and working in Washington. Her daughter, 15, is in school.

Her pride in her own family carries over into her work with service men.

"I like to mother the boys," she said. And that statement would apply equally well to the women of the Marine Corps Reserve.

Flying is in her family—Mrs. Streeter and her late mother, Mrs. Mary L. C. Schofield of Peterboro, N. H., sponsored the annual Cheney award for bravery in the Army Air Corps. The award is in memory of her brother, Lieut. William H. Cheney, killed in Italy in World War I.

CLEAR SKIPPER OF LOST LINER

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29 — Capt. Henry Nelson, skipper of the liner President Coolidge which struck a mine and sank while being used as a troopship in the South Pacific, disclosed in an interview that he had been given a navy courtmartial and cleared in connection with the ship's loss.

Capt. Nelson said that if the 20,000-ton ship had not been beached quickly "we would have lost at least 45 per cent of those aboard—she would have sunk in 20 minutes."

The vessel carried 4000 troops when it sank somewhere in the Solomons and only four men were lost, according to announcements by the Navy and Secretary Knox last Dec. 15.

Capt. Nelson said, however, that only two men, crew members, were found to have been lost when the final checkup was made. The captain said, too, that his ship struck a second mine and that the blast was even more terrific than the first a few moments earlier. Earlier Navy announcements said merely that the ship "struck a mine."

The captain disclosed that he was placed in protective custody along with his officers after the sinking. The Navy flew him to a south Pacific island, held the courtmartial and acquitted him of all blame, he said.

'DAUGHTER OF NAVY' IN WAVES TO AVENGE HERO-HUSBAND

By EDWARD M. MARTIN

Born into the United States Navy, the daughter of a veteran naval officer, sister of two Navy brothers, and young widow of a Naval Reserve ensign who lost his life in World War II, pretty, dark-haired Mrs. Rita Ehler Lund, 22, of Nutting rd., Cambridge, has joined the WAVES—her only regret that she cannot bear arms to avenge the death of her husband of 19 days.

Mrs. Lund received final orders in the mail yesterday to report for training on Feb. 12 at Bloomington, Ind.

The pretty bride—and war widow—born at Camp Barry, Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill. A Navy doctor attended. She was baptized by a U. S Navy chaplain, and the commandant of the Camp signed her birth certificate. Another naval officer was her godfather.

On Feb. 14 of last year, she became the bride of Third Class Fireneer Charles P. Lund, Jr., 21,

Ensign Charles P. Lund

Mrs. Rita Ehler Lund

of the Merchant Marine, commissioned an ensign shortly before he was reported "missing."

The wedding ceremony took place in St. Paul's Church, Cambridge, while the groom was on two weeks leave. Plans for a honeymoon trip had to be postponed when the young officer was told to "stand by for further orders."

Nine days later he was ordered aboard a 10,000-ton Russia-bound freighter, never to return. His ship was torpedoed 30 miles off Halifax.

And while Mrs. Lund mourned her young husband, word was received by her mother, Mrs. Marieita Ehler, at their Nutting rd. home that Rita's dad, Chief Gunner's Mate Victor D. Ehler, 55, a veteran of World War 1 and summoned back into active service, had died suddenly at Newport Naval Training Station, R. I.

Mrs. Lund's three brothers are in vital defense work. They are James, 29; Kenneth, 26, and Victor 28. James and Kenneth have both served in the Navy.

Five uncles and numerous relatives have donned the blue uniform, three uncles in World War I, and two now serving in World War II.

"I'd like to bear actual arms against our enemies," she said, "but since that is impossible the WAVES is the next best opportunity for us girls to do our part in this war. I hope many more of our American girls take advantage of it."

AUSSIES SEEK TO WIDEN WAR

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 29 (AP)—A bill to enlarge the geographical boundaries within which Australia's militia and conscripted soldiery may serve was offered the House of Representatives today by Prime Minister John Curtin and drew immediate criticism as not far-reaching enough.

The opposition was led by Former Premier Robert Menzies, who described the Curtain proposal as "astonishingly inflexiible, parochial and isolationist."

Curtin asked that the Commonwealth defense act be amended to permit the service of militia and draft troops anywhere south of the equator in the zone btween the 110th and 159th meridians east longitude.

Under the law, the service of enlisted men in these branches of the armed forces is restricted to the dominion itself, its possessions and mandates.

Curtin's suggested liberalization would allow their use as well in certain of the Netherlands East Indies, Dutch New Guinea, Timor and a portion of the Solomon islands.

Percy Spender, former Army minister, declared the bill "gave notice to the world, especially to America from whom we sought aid, that although her troops are serving thousands of miles from her mainland and close to ours, we do not propose to fight outside an exceedingly limited area."

Curtin said "the world knows Australians have fought in all theaters and will continue so to fight."

Double Shock For Art Radical

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29 (AP)—Thomas Hart Benton, the mustached muralist who once advocated the exhibition of paintings in saloons instead of museums, received two bits of startling news today.

From Philadelphia he learned that his canvas, "Aaron," a study of an aged lay Negro preacher, won the Carol H. Beck medal in the 138th annual exhibition at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

From Jefferson City, Mo., he learned that a Republican member of the House of Representatives, Ralph Erdwin, wanted the likeness of Tom Pendergast, one-time Democratic boss of Missouri removed from Benton's speech-provoking murals in the House lounge.

SECRETARY HULL RAPS 'PM' SCRIBE IN NAME ROW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—An attempt by I. F. Stone, of the New York newspaper PM, to press Secretary of State Hull for a detailed reply to a question about North African policy, led to short words between the two, today, at the secretary's usually sedate press conference.

The question was whether the State Department orginally questioned the advisability of the appointment of Marcel Peyrouton, former Vichy minister of interior, as governor-general of Algeria but later consented to it as a military necessity.

Hull replied that the Department's whole policy had been based on military considerations but that he would not go into any one detail at this time.

As Stone pressed for a specific reply, Hull demanded to know his name.

The reporter answered that it was Stone and Hull inquired whether he had not also some other name. The reporter reiterated that Stone was his name.

Later the reporter offered "a statement on my name" but Hull said he was not interested.

The secretary explained that he wanted to know to whom he was talking because he had been consistently misrepresented.

Stone, a contributor to several magazines and Washington editor of "The Nation," is listed in Who's Who as "Stone, I. F. (Isidor Feinstein)" and his father's name is given as Bernard Feinstein.

WEATHER CAN'T KEEP CROWDS FROM F. D.'S BIRTHDAY BALL

Tonight's the night, and come snow—which has—and ice or high water—which may—a capacity crowd is expected at the Boston Garden for observance of the President's Birthday Ball benefit for the fund to combat infantile paralysis.

With the largest advance sale in the history of the event already reported, a crowd of almost 20,000 persons is expected to attend the gala program despite winter's handicaps to date.

A war bond door prize of $1000, simulated battle attacks under realistic war conditions; military drills, battles and bands and dance music; stage pageants and appearances of noted stars of the entertainment world were listed as outstanding features of the impressive entertainment program.

"Because the cause is so eminently worthy, I know that thousands will brave the snow, because by so doing they will enable many paralysis victims to walk," said Edmund J. Brandon, U. S. attorney and chairman of the birthday ball committee.

Among government officials who have reserved boxes for the affair are Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin Police Commr. Timilty, Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding general of the First Service Command; Maj. - Gen. Kenneth T. Blood, commanding general of the New England sector; Rear-Admr. Wilson Brown, commandant of the First Naval District and Col. Harold C. Pierce, Marine Corps commander.

Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard units will join with representatives of veterans' organizations in presenting the military pageant which is expected to prove one of the most thrilling and spectacular events ever held in the city.

HUB UNITED WAR FUND DRIVE SOARS PAST HALFWAY MARK

Greater Boston's first real deep snow storm prevented many volunteer workers from attending the scheduled report luncheon at the Boston City Club today, but their telephoned reports on contributions indicated that the Great Boston United War Fund campaign was well past the half-way mark toward the $7,800,000 goal.

Nevertheless, Charles C. Cabot, general campaign chairman, announced that much intensive work remains to be done if the campaign goal is to be attained, and all volunteers were urged to keep up their endeavors.

Two servicemen, recently returned from theaters of war, were among the guests to be present at today's report luncheon in honor of "United Nations Day."

They are Warrant Machinist James D. Fox and Chief Boatswain's Mate Hunter Wood, both of the U. S. Coast Guard. Wood recently returned from North Africa, and Fox from the Solomons.

Another feature of the day's campaign was a rally to be held at the Boston Army Base, with stage, screen and radio stars as highlight performers. Among those "booked" for appearance were Milton Berle and Ilona Massey, stars of the Follies, Ruth Owens, radio singer, and Edward Everett Horton, famed comedian.

Subscriptions of $500 and more announced by Fund officials today include:

War Living Costs Rise Set at 9 P. C. in Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (INS)—Labor Sec. Perkins today reported living costs were ½ of 1 per cent higher on Dec. 15 than on Nov. 15, bringing the total rise for America's first war year to 9 per cent.

Since the outbreak of war in Europe, the increase in the living costs has been 22.1 per cent as compared with 35 per cent during the same period of World War No. 1, Miss Perkins said.

PLAN SLED VICTIM RITES

LOWELL, Jan. 29—Funeral arrangements were being made today for John Flynn, 18, who died in St. John's hospital from a fractured skull suffered in a coasting accident. Three girls who were riding with Flynn, when their toboggan struck a tree, were unhurt.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS AID JVA

Camp Fire Girls are working alongside the Junior Victory Army and other youth associations in the 1943 Victory Book Campaign to supply our servicemen in all parts of the world with reading material.

Like the JVA, the Camp Fire Girls have been urged to collect good books in GOOD condition and take them to the nearest library. Detective and mystery stories, best sellers and technical volumes on radio, meteorology, navigation and other subjects are needed.

The canvass for books to keep our soldiers, sailors and airmen in distant lands entertained is but one of various duties which Camp Fire Girls are filling to help win the war.

Under their slogans "Serve for Victory" and "Serve by Saving," they take training courses to help care for babies and younger children and are making "recreation kits" to keep the latter from being frightened during possible air raids.

They aid in civilian defense by manning telephones at warning centers, assist in ration offices, distribute O. C. D. leaflets, collect salvage and co-operate with officials in safety precautions.

Each Camp Fire Girl and group leader is saving kitchen fats and stockings as materials needed for war production and buying war bonds and stamps.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enrollment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter.

'BUGS' MORAN NABBED IN ROW

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—George (Bugs) Moran, purveyor of booze to Chicago's North Side during prohibition years, sulked in the First District Police Station last night after a tussle with a Coast Guard officer.

Moran was seized by Police Sergt. Howard McWilliams when Ensign Alexander Hansen of the Coast Guard pointed him out as the man with whom he had tussled at Clark and Madison sts. Moran was held without charge while police investigated an entry in his record showing that he was wanted for bond forfeiture.

McWilliams said Hansen told him that Moran had seized his coat as he walked by in a tavern and had said:

"Come on—let's make some money."

Hansen walked out. Moran pursued him to the street and the pair was tussling, McWilliams said, when the squad car hove in sight. As the squad car approached, Moran ceased struggling and walked away, but was taken into custody by police.

He told McWilliams that he was "an asparagus salesman."

Moran has been sought for almost a year. He was convicted in May, 1939, of conspiracy to forge and pass counterfeit travelers' checks. Also convicted was Frankie Parker, known as the airplane bootlegger. Both appealed their convictions and subsequent sentences of one year in jail and fines of $2000 each, but the appeals were denied by the U. S. Supreme Court April 6, 1942.

Hitler Counts Dead; Napoleon Did Better

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—German casualties since the Russian winter offensive began in November are larger than the whole of Napoleon's grand army which invaded Russia in 1812, the Moscow radio said today in a broadcast recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

Napoleon's invasion force numbered 600,000 men, including French, Germans and Italians. They crossed the Niemen river on June 24, but only 100,000 reached Vilna (Wilno) on Dec. 6.

Slice Test Wins Thousands to Bond

Housewives convince themselves Bond is closer-knit, better, bigger value

Bond never does this!

See what happens when you cut a puffy loaf of bread. Then cut a loaf of delicious Bond. See how easily it slices, either thick or thin — how clean and even the slices fall away from your knife. That's because Bond is closer-knit, fuller-bodied, filled with more real bread goodness.

Bond wins the slice test!

Why? Because inside that tempting Bond crust, there's more honest-to-goodness bread..the flavorful, delicious kind that's full of vitamins and extra nourishment. And since Bond is closer-knit, its oven-fresh flavor is sealed inside longer. Buy Bond and see!

BOND'S EXTRA FULL-BODIED GOODNESS KEEPS IT FRESHER... MAKES IT SLICE BETTER!

Beauty

Arline Gould Passes Along

New Beauty Tips From Hollywood Stars

FROM HOLLYWOOD come these beauty tips of various descriptions . . . all the way from Roz Russell's pet cure for physical fag . . . to Ann Summers' quick disguise for complexion eruptions!

Rosalind Russell, by all accounts, leads one of the busiest, most active lives in Hollywood. Though she may seem to be inexhaustibly energetic, she, too, gets tired . . . and so, among her many interests and hobbies, she seeks new ways in which to get that necessary pickup for weariness.

Here are two of them . . . the first is to rest your back, standing for a minute with your waist bent, your arms and hands hanging loosely in front of you like a limp rag doll. To relax your entire body quickly, lie flat on the floor, with a pillow under your hips and your heels resting on the seat of a chair.

It's odd . . . how many people have no notion of the right and the wrong way to apply rouge. Ariel Heath phrases it very simply . . . for cream rouge, apply beneath your powder . . . for powder rouge, put on over your powder.

Ann Summers has a suggestion to make concerning those unfortunate blemishes that sometimes appear even on the best of complexions. Never put makeup directly on them, says Ann . . . but cover them first with a tiny dab of flesh-colored acne lotion, which will prevent infection and help to hide them at the same time.

If you're a devotee of some crystalline eye lotion . . . and the eye cup has an unaccountable way of getting lost . . . try Dorothy Lamour's suggestion. She says that if you use a large tablespoon, and just "pour" into the corners, with your head thrown back, it will work just as well, and is much easier to care for afterward.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Rosalind Russell believes that one beauty secret is a look of freshness, no matter what you do, or what you wear! Arline Gould gives a couple of Roz' suggestions for quick recovery when you're fatigued.

Her Mother Objects

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am 24 years old and in love with a boy with whom I have been going since I was 15.

After seeing him at home for two years mother objected, and even told him not to come any more, so we've just been seeing each other when we had a chance. Her reason for not wanting me to marry him is that he's lazy which makes her hate him.

He always has been a decent sort, never did anything wrong, doesn't drink, and has always been a wonderful pal. He is now ill and I want to go and call on him, but if my mother found it out, she would order me to leave home.

Since my father died when we were young children, we have tried to humor mother and do things just as she wants them done.

WORRIED.

Have you a married sister, some older woman or friend who could go with you when you make this call? To me it seems the only decent and humane thing to do under the circumstances.

However, you've told me nothing of your economic situation. If you're absolutely dependent on your mother for a home and means of support, what would be the consequences if she carries out her threat of closing her door to you?

HIS PAY GOES ON

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
My son has been ill in an Army hospital where he had to undergo a minor operation. Does his pay stop while he is under a doctor's care?

WORRIED.

Both enlisted men and officers continue to draw full pay during any illness which is not the result of their own misconduct.

Name Change Her Problem

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
I am divorcing my second husband. My first husband died several years before my second marriage. In my application for divorce, I am asking to take back the name of my first husband. Is it correct for me to use the name of my first husband, and if so, how should I have my new visiting-cards engraved?

G. R.

If the court gives you permission to use your first husband's name after your divorce, it is proper for you to use it socially. Then your visiting-cards would again read as they read when your first husband was living . . . Mrs. John Forbes Smith . . . and your informal name would be, as then, Mary Robinson Smith.

DESSERTS FOR TWO

Walnut Date Pudding Is Delicious

By MARTHA LEE

DESSERTS THAT DO DOUBLE DUTY as hot puddings one day and cakes or cookies the next are the perfect solution to the perplexing problem of what to serve the small family of two.

This rich date and nut pudding makes a wonderfully impressive dessert for six—elegant enough to warrant the service of your finest foamy sauce by way of accompaniment. And it is also perfectly practical to serve just as it is to only two.

WALNUT DATE PUDDING

2 eggs
½ cup sugar
1-3 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup sliced pitted dates
1 cup chopped walnuts

Beat eggs and sugar until thick and lemon colored. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; add to dates and nuts. Fold fruit and nut mixture into beaten eggs and sugar. Pour into well-greased eight-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30 minutes, or until evenly browned. Serve small squares hot, with foamy pudding sauce, or cut into 24 small cookies, preferably while still warm, and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Many other cakes lend themselves to the same treatment. Spice cakes, devil's food, applesauce cake and all lightly fruited cakes are excellent served hot immediately after baking. Serve them with cream or your favorite pudding sauce; then cut when cold and frost or sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Always get some of your sugar ration in powdered sugar. It really helps to make your granulated sugar go farther, for it saves frosting, and you can also manage with less sugar in the actual recipe. For instance, the date and nut pudding would require an additional quarter-cup of granulated sugar if it were not to be served with a sweetened sauce, while one tablespoon of powdered sugar is ample to sprinkle the entire panful if it should be cut up into cookie squares. This is a direct saving of three tablespoons.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

1⅔ cups sifted cake flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup raisins
1 cup warm applesauce
1 tsp. baking soda

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients to which raisins have been added, alternately with warm applesauce in which soda has been dissolved. Bake in greased 8-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 minutes. Makes 1 square cake.

SPICE CAKE

2½ cups sifted cake flour
3 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. mace
¼ tsp. cloves
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1-3 cup molasses
¾ cup milk

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until fluffy. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, stirring well after each addition. Stir in molasses. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, stirring well after each addition. Bake in 2 greased 9-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 2 layers.

IT'S A SIDE-SADDLE SKIRT

By BETTINA BEDWELL

ADRIAN, with his return to designing for the movies, makes a bid to influence fashions.

He has designed a dress that has two new and very exciting ideas to it. This is the evening jumper with a side-saddle draped skirt. You'll see it in "The Powers Girls."

And a preview sketch of this model has been made by Miss Dulin, so you won't have to wait.

The jumper is made of very heavy black crepe which drapes and falls beautifully, and the jumper waist is slit in a V-shape to the waistline.

The skirt is a wrap-over draped like the old-time side-saddle riding skirt was draped.

With the jumper goes a white crepe shirt-waist blouse with short sleeves and a sports shirt collar and lapels. It is open to a dangerous depth in the V-shaped neckline.

Fashion

SMARTLY TAILORED WHITE FLANNEL

SOME FASHIONS from Hollywood belong no other place than on the screen . . . but many others would be right as a trivet in any capital on the continent. Jane Wyman poses in a smart tailored white flannel, cross-barred in blue, that Leah Rhodes designed . . . and may her fame grow! It has a concealed closing from the square neckline down, and Jane wears three wide strands of pearls immediately at the base of the throat, which is currently most smart. If you could manage somewhat baroque cultured pearls a bit larger than these, you'd really achieve chic! Her pompadour hat with white pique bow is nice, too. —ANNICE BRINK.

N. E. COOKS FIND SKILL WITH FISH, POULTRY TIMELY BOON

By PAULINE WARREN

Accustomed as we are to buying everything from electric irons to ice cream in a drug store, we are quickly adjusting ourselves to the versatility of our meat markets which now sell practically everything except fresh meats. This week-end the meat counters in most chain stores will be selling fish and poultry, which are plentiful, rather than beef, lamb and pork, which are still very scarce.

It is fortunate that New England housewives are famous for the things they can do to fish and chicken, which turn those two products into such delectable dishes, for it looks like a long famine as far as fresh red meat is concerned.

The price of poultry and fish is holding down well, however, and a Sunday dinner confined to either of these two items is much lighter on the family budget. A few of the chains have specials on fancy, milk-fed roasting chickens at 43c a pound and tender native broilers can be had at many places for 39c a pound.

RED MEAT MECCA

About the only place where red meat can be had is at Faneuil Hall Market and this is because most of the firms there have notified their large customers, such as boarding schools, inns, restaurants, and the like, they can no longer sell in large quantities.

The supplies, formerly sold to institutions, are now sold over the counter in small quantities to the retail customer. It's the first time in many weeks that so much beef has been seen on counters anywhere.

Eggs are still selling at 51c a dozen at the big serve-yourself marts and this means for the big, strictly fresh eggs which come from local farms.

BUTTER FAMINE GROWS

The butter situation is now worse than ever with the wholesalers finding it difficult to supply even such places as hospitals. No hope of an increase is held out either until the last of March when production is due to rise.

Celery is the item of the week as far as price is concerned. One chain is featuring Pascal celery at 2 big bunches for 29c while another chain is stressing Andy Boy Pascal celery at 15c a bunch.

HERE ARE THE PRICES

The following prices were collected from the chains, independent markets and downtown stores.

FISH—Mackerel Fillets, 23; Red Fish Fillets, 25; Haddock, 19; Mackerel, 12; Pollock, 19; Steak Cod, 29; Swordfish, 55; Haddock-Scrod, fresh-dressed (ready to cook), 33; Smelts, 12 for quick frozen and 25 to 60 for fresh caught; Flounders, 25; Tongues and cheeks, 25; Clams, 20 a quart; Oysters, 49 cents a pint.

POULTRY—Fowl, 35-39; Ducks, 34; Geese, 38; Turkeys, 47-50, Chicken (roasting), 43-46, Broilers, 39-42; Guinea chickens, 47; Squabs, 69; Pigeons, 32; Pheasants (2 to 2½ pounds average), $1 the pound.

FRUITS — Oranges (special at one Chain), 2 doz. for 29; Emperor Grapes, 19; Limes, 45 doz.; Lemons, 45 doz.; Papaya Melons, 26 a pound; Rhubarb, 20 a pound; Strawberries, 35 a pint; Tangerines, 35 and 49 doz.; Temple Oranges, 60 a doz.; Grapefruits, 5 and up; Apples, 4 pounds for 23 and 5 a pound for McIntosh.

VEGETABLES — Swiss Chard, 18 a pound; Asparagus (Hot House), 50-small bunch; New Cabbage, 10 a pound; Potatoes, 49 and 51 a peck; Green Beans, 17 a pound; Danish Cabbage, 5 a pound; Green Peas, 32 pound; Tomatoes, 20 for Southern, 60 for Hot House; Artichokes, 15 each; Spinach, 15 a pound; Watercress, 15 a bunch; Cucumbers, 35 each; Lettuce, 15 for native, 25 for California Iceberg; Radishes, 6 and 8 a bunch; Wax Beans, 30 pound; Broccoli, 23 and 25 pound; Carrots and Beets, 12 a bunch (10 at Chains); Chicory, 25 a head; Endive, 50 a pound; Parsnips, 12 and 15 pound; Romaine, 25 a head; Cauliflower, 49 (large head); New Florida Potatoes, 10 a pound; Brussels Sprouts, 35 a basket; Eggplant, 35 each; Beet Greens, 20 a pound and Green Peppers, 3 cents each.

They're All Proud Of Hingham Ship

If war workers at the Hingham-Bethlehem shipbuilding yards were patting themselves on their backs today, they had a reason. The reason: a letter received by yard officials from the skipper of a Hingham built vessel now "somewhere in England." It reads:

"I should like to express my own, and my crew's appreciation of the honor to commission such a trim craft, and I should like you to convety my profound satisfaction and gratitude to all upon your docks and yards, from the highest to the lowest."

The letter was signed by Lieut. Thomas Cooper, R. N. R.

DISEASE FROM MEAT PERILS PATRONS OF BLACK MARKET

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29 (AP)—It seems the men who are running this sudden "black market" in meat are lifting their methods, chapter and verse, from the Al Capone era. And for the same reason: high prices.

There seems to be black market fads in different zones of the country, and the zone differences came out here at a one-day meeting of OPA men from all over the country as they swapped their black market headaches behind closed doors.

The trouble is that OPA originally was devised on the thesis that the consumer would do the policing. And they're not doing it.

Most of the meat dealers who violate the ceiling restrictions are located either in new war boom manufacturing districts, or in the smaller towns where there is little policing because the OPA staff is too small.

Much of this bootlegged meat is slaughtered in insanitary conditions and none of it passes under government inspection. City health commissioners are getting gray hairs over the epidemics that could arise as a result.

On the fringes of the big cities, and in the war boom neighborhoods you hear that so-and-so has plenty of meat. He even sells meat to strangers.

And city people who drive through small towns on business come back with their eyes bulging. They saw—really—butcher store windows just filled with meat. Beef, everything. Butter.

So city people save up gasoline and drive out to small towns to do their shopping. And boy, do they buy. Then the small town squawks because it's being "raided. Stores suddenly empty.

Now OPA is really going to crack down.

SMART SET NOTES

Faith Moffat in Capital

By BETTY ALDEN

FAITH MOFFAT and four other ensigns in the WAVES are their own K. P. in a little house they are sharing on the outskirts of Washington, D. C.

Faith, a popular Boston debutante of a few years ago, graduated from Smith last June and received her commission in the WAVES at Northampton just before Christmas. Now she has an interesting job in the Bureau of Yards and Docks and hustles home after work to help get dinner and wash the dishes.

Most exciting news she's had from home lately is that her brother, Alex, Jr., has just become the first 17-year-older to enlist as an apprentice seaman in Naval Aviation. In donning Navy blue Faith and Alex are following in the footsteps of their father, Comdr. Alexander Moffatt, U. S. N. R., of the ship lane patrol.

MRS. ALEXANDER STEINERT presided at yesterday's Authors' Group luncheon at the Copley Plaza, an inspiring affair attended by some 300 book lovers of Greater Boston. She was surrounded at the head table by writers of current best sellers, four of whom spoke after luncheon.

Mrs. Steinert wore green orchids on the shoulder of her cinnamon crepe afternoon dress and her becoming brimmed hat matched the flowers. Her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Newman, one of the gardenia-ed ushers, wore a lovely black dress with a yoke of deep pink satin and a perky pink hat.

Attractive Mrs. Walter Merriam Pratt, whose black dress had glittery lapels of black sequins, also wore gardenias, and Mrs. Walter McKim was a cute usher in a pleated gray wool jersey with white Peter Pan collar and cuffs. Her hat was a soaring crowned model of gray crocheted chenille. Another pretty guest was Mrs. A. Welburn Hill whose black dress had a bib of powder blue wool jersey and was topped by a mink hat.

Stars, Stars, Stars--That's Met Menu; Talent in Romp

By PEGGY DOYLE

Seeing stars is no idle figure of speech if it's the Metropolitan screen that has been magnetizing your wide-eyed gaze. That popular movie house's current box office killer-diller, "Star Spangled Rhythm," boasts more stars than a planetarium.

"Star Spangled Rhythm," you might say, is Paramount's biggest promotion stunt. It show-cases most of its biggest stars, gives you a glimpse of three of its top directors and takes you on a tour of some of its own snazziest furlined offices and its carefully guarded grounds.

TThe story hasn't much heft, but, after all, it's but the framework upon which to drape a flock of spontaneous skits and blackout numbers highlighting a staggering abundance of Paramount's most glittering and nimble-witted big names.

And will that hold you, boys and girls, until some studio comes along with a picture spangled with all the stars from all the lots in Holiywood and environs?

The plot unwinds naively enough with switchboard girl Betty Hutton getting a call from sailor Eddie Bracken, who believes his pop, Victor Moore, is the head of Paramount Studios and that she, Betty, is his big career-girl secretary. It's an innocent little invention of the Paramount gateman, "Pop" Moore, and Betty that develops tremendous complications.

In the course of the developments, Miss Hutton shines through as a first-rate comedienne. Walter Abel, the real studio head, seems

The show the conniving Miss Hutton contrives has the spontaneity and sparkle of the smash Victory Cavalcade of some time agone. In a word, it has everything including a song, "A Sweater, a Sarong, and a Beek-a-boo Bang," in which the singing Misses Goddard, Lamour and Lake kid their props to a farethewell.

Russian Envoy Enjoyed New Show

Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff is reported to have laughed heartily at the Russian sniper during the Washington, D. C., premiere of Joseph Fields's Broadway hit, "The Doughgirls." Which is specifically why the playwright is confused about the Daily Worker's sour review.

Coward's 'In Which We Serve' Among Screen's Masterpieces

By PEGGY DOYLE

Skyhigh above anything the stage or screen has done in memory, Noel Coward's war picture, "In Which We Serve," which has opened at Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters, is as imperishable as the character and courage it memorializes.

Written, directed and produced by the great British showman, who also played the leading role and composed the accompanying musical score, Coward's story of a destroyer is eloquent of our times and destined to outlive them.

If his magnificent "Cavalcade" hinted at his greatness, "In Which We Serve" permanently establishes the 43-year-old one-man stage and screen producing company as the master craftsman of the cinema art.

It is not enough to see this story of a ship once . . . it must be seen again and again to completely appreciate the incomparable skill and integrity that are its warp and woof.

With consummate simplicity and disdaining the accepted tricks and contrivances of the trade, there is shown the birth, life and sudden death of a ship . . . and the survival of its valiant spirit in the hearts of the few living members of the crew. Coward uses the old flash-back device, building up a quality of emotional intensity that is almost unbearably dramatic at times.

He starts with the building of H. M. S. Torrin, a British destroyer. Her keel laid, she is launched, commissioned. Anticipating conflict, her skipper, Capt. Kinross, played by Coward, promptly services her. A couple of years later, off Crete, we see the end of the Torrin, victim of a swarm of dive-bombers.

As the survivors cling to a rubber raft, ducking machine-gun bullets, Coward takes us back to events in the Torrin's life. These run the gamut of lofty, high moments to intimate, intolerably touching sequences . . . the vital role the destroyer played in the evacuation of Dunkerque . . . Mrs. Kinross' gallant toast to the Torrin, her "rival," during the captain's brief visit between tours of duty with the destroyer . . . the scene in which the chief petty officer learns his wife has been killed in a blitz and, numb with grief, remembers to congratulate the bearer of the sad news on the birth of his son in that same blitz . . . the captain, saying amen to the simple prayer service on the warship, leading his men in the singing of "Good King Wenceslaus" . . . and again, in that unforgetable climax, his tribute to his dead comrades and his sad but proud farewell to the survivors of his valiant crew.

Coward has peopled his picture with English players unknown to American audiences, a happy instance of casting since the story comes to life unimpeded by memoried screen mannerisms.

The same simplicity and grandeur that earmarks the story distinguishes the performances that dovetail with Coward's heroic, kindly Capt. Kinross in making "In Which We Serve" an abiding, inspiring human experience.

Special Early Morning 'Follies' for Workers

First post-midnight performance of a Broadway revue for defense workers will be given next Friday morning at 1 a. m. at the Shubert Theater when the new "Ziegfeld Follies" is presented for the General Electric employes of the General Electric Lynn Works. A special OPA ruling was required to secure special Boston & Maine and bus transportation from Lynn. Arthur Treacher and Christine Ayres, principals of the show, and 10 show-girls were luncheon guests at the plant.

Jimmy Dorsey Rhythm-- RKO Boston Fans Happy!

By DON WARD

It's a toss-up whether Jimmy Dorsey and his bandmen or the boys and girls in the audience have more fun at the RKO-Boston. One thing, they've all got plenty of rhythm, from the time the boys and Jimmy's saxe give out with the opener, which proclaims melodically that they've certainly got that rhythm, to the rousing "One O'Clock Jump," which left the crowd still yelling for more.

Our James is easily one of the most popular lads to come to town, and so, too is the tall, tanned and terrific Bob Eberly, who must have relished that loud and long welcome he got from the fans. Bob sings—and better than you'll hear it often—"There Are Such Things" and "Moonlight Becomes You," and only on the assurance that he'd give out some more, would the customers let him off stage.

He did come back, too, with cute Kitty Kallen with the turned-up nose and the big eyes. Together they had a nice little playful romp with "Take Little Bobby in Hand," while Kitty soloed prettily in "Hip, Hip, Hooray" and "The Man I Love." Add to Jimmy's versatile talents that he's one of the best "discoverers" in show business. Kitty's his latest find, and he's got something there.

Billy Pritchard, another of the band's vocalists, does a smacko job with "Stuff in the Cuff,"—where do they get these titles?—Pops and Louie are a pair of dusky demons in acrobatic tap dancing, and Don Rice trots out some nonsense in the laugh corner.

And what a wow that Schutz fellow is in the percussion department, beating it out with a precision and a speed that's practically frenzied. So was the audience.

In the Armed Forces

Chester Flather, U. S. Navy, son of John "Pop" Flather, retired federal employe now residing in Boston, has been promoted from commander to captain. He is one of five members of the elder Flather's family serving his country. Two grandsons, John F., and Harry V. Ellis, are Army captains; another grandson, Philip Flather, recently graduated from Tufts and will soon report for air corps training at Chanute Field, Ill.; and a son-in-law, Harry V. Ellis, Sr., is a lieutenant-colonel in the Army.

Arthur F. Marston of Van Winkle st., Boston, was recently promoted from corporal to sergeant in the Panama Canal Zone where he is on duty with the Army. He enlisted in Aug., 1940, and began service on the Isthmus last October.

William E. Saganiere of Green st., Danvers Highlands, is undergoing training at Camp Davis, N. C. He is a brother of Mrs. Ernest C. Veno of Main st., Saugus.

Among the recent graduates from the Army Armored Forces School, Ft. Knox, Ky., was Corp. Sirkis A. Nalbandian of Century st., Somerville. Robert A. Quilty of Topliff st., Boston, recently enrolled at the school for special training.

Four Greater Boston men have begun training at the Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Station. They are Ralph F. Holder of Heath st., Somerville; James F. Gardner of Ware st., Cambridge; Robert A. Herlihy of Bond st., Boston, and William J. Barry of Norfolk st., Cambridge.

Go on--You've Bit Saved Yet!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

FEELING LOW? So'm I. Fed up with this whole screwball world.

I found a cure for those doldrums the other day. It's a small book. You can read it in an evening—this "H. M. CORVETTE," by Lieut. Nicholas Monsarrat of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve (published by Lippincott).

Lieut. Monsarrat has been one of those men for two years. Shortly after Dunkirk, he took a place on one of those small corvettes.

There's the story of three farspent men they found adrift on a raft. The sea was high but they got the first two off safely. Then the rope parted and the third survivor seemingly made no effort to seize the one thrown in its place. Why not?

"He's awake, all right," said his two comrades, "but he can't move. Broken arm and leg. He told us to go first. He's the mate."

For hours they tried to save him but neither boat nor swimmer could survive that sea. At last they had to leave him . . . as they drew away he waved, not in farewell or appeal but in salute. And then lay back.

Then there's the story of a Yorkshire seaman with a broken thigh and a fearful gash on his face. A ghastly job to tackle even for a regular doctor in a hospital. But here there was only a young officer doing his best with makeshift odds and ends. The lieutenant paused in strapping up the leg, wondering whether the mangled man could stand any more of it. But the seaman said, "GO ON—I'VE A BIT SAVED UP YET!"

What surprised me was to see Churchill in Morocco and Casablanca without a toupee. Bing Crosby and Charles Boyer thought it couldn't be done.

That North African conference was a success if it only stops the Fighting French from talking. One good thing about Mr. Roosevelt's trip is it was taken on Mussolini's ticket.

Roosevelt and Churchill are getting around like hoops on a keg. The best Shickelgruber can do is to shuttle between Berlin and Munich.

Do you know what Winston and Franklin said when they met? It's a small world after all. And it is if you can get the gasoline.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Writer

The Nazis examined the North African caucus through the small end of the field glasses and found no Russians.

They are pleased that Stalin stayed home.

This is a form of oblique joy peculiar to the Nazi mind.

They would rather have Stalin in Moscow master-minding their destruction now than at Casablanca planning for it in the future.

They are giggling at the prospect of getting smitten fore and aft instead of just aft.

They keep chuckling "Where was Stalin?" and we keep saying "Look right behind you."

Well, if they can get amusement out of it, let 'em have it. They haven't got many more laughs coming.

Thought for the day: "Unconditional surrender."

Jimmy Sauer Is Vastly Improved

IF I WERE TO BE asked to name the two most promising boxers to come out of the All-America tournament this season, I would give as my choices Jimmy Sauer, Cambridge welterweight, and Johnny Pretzie of Watertown. Sauer looked very impressive as he boxed and punched his way past some pretty tough opposition. He was expected to do so in view of the fact he had done well in the All-America show a year ago.

DAVE ANDREWS

Pretzie was a surprise as he entered the tournament as a substitute and then went on to win the heavyweight title. Pretzie packs a thunderous punch in his left hand, while he is also able to knock over the opposition with his right. If the war does not last too long, Pretzie will go on to gain fame in the professional ranks after he gets his discharge from the Air Corps.

Sauer has already turned professional, and he will make his second start at the Arena tonight when he meets Soldier Martin of Taunton in a special six-round bout. I talked with Sauer following a training session at Harry Kelley's Gym.

Jimmy looked to be physically fit. He has been putting on weight during the past year. He has moved from the lightweight into the welterweight class, and he looks as if he will be battling as a middleweight inside of a year.

Sauer has come with a greater rush than most boxers. His improvement over a period of a year has been sensational.

"I will give as much of my time to boxing as possible," said Sauer, "and I hope to go as far in the professional ranks as I did as an amateur."

Sauer Gets Power of Body Behind Blows

YOU MAY HAVE seen Sauer hit his opponents with short, crushing blows and then watched them drop to the canvas in a helpless condition. You also have probably watched other boxers score with looping wallops and the boxer did not fall.

The reason for this is that Sauer gets full force of his body behind his punches, while the boxer who loops his blows only supports them with the weight of his arm and a part of the weight of his body.

Sauer keeps his right duke on his shoulder and he can score with it from any angle. The fact he does not pull his arm back before he lets fly with his kayo smash makes it much more difficult for his ring rival to avoid the wallop.

I have never seen Soldier Martin in action. He will have to be a pretty good fighting man if he is to win from Sauer.

There will be another All-America champion on the Goodwin Club's card with Sauer tonight. He is Dave Andrews of Lowell who will have Frank McDougall of Roxbury as an opponent in an eight-round bout. When in the amateurs, Andrews was given the nickname "Golden Boy" as he had a perfect body. As a professional, Andrews has shown good fighting form, and feels he will win from McDougall.

Horsemen Will Now Get Needed Aid

JUDGE JAMES E. DOOLEY of Narragansett Park took the lead in the drive to see that stranded horsemen get out of Florida. He approved the plan of the horsemen to use the money given to the Horsemen's Benevolent Ass'n by Narragansett Park. More important, he pledged that the Rhode Island track would also make an additional contribution if one is required.

Hialeah Park is also showing some interest in the horsemen who are without funds. Tropical Park still remains very quiet on this vital matter.

Race tracks are going to be graded according to the way they act during the war. It was easy for their officers to take the bows when a boom betting business made things soft for them. In most cases, the success of the tracks was due to an exceptional national interest in betting on horse races, and was not the result of any special genius on the part of the owners of the tracks.

War conditions call for special ability, a clear understanding of what makes racing go, and decisions from the heart rather than ones dictated solely by business reasons. Most race tracks have made large sums of money in recent years, and they now can afford to take care of the stranded horsemen in Florida and other emergency matters that are certain to come up during the war.

Meyer Re-Signed As Newark Leader

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 29 (AP)—The Newark Bears of the International League announced the re-signing of Bill Meyer as manager of the club. The contract was on the club's usual one-year basis.

Meyer, who led the Bears to the International League pennant last season, accepted terms of the contract at his home in Knoxville, Tenn., the club said.

Last year was his first with Newark, where he succeeded Johnny Neun, who took Meyer's old job as manager of the Kansas City Blues, another Yankee farm.

KING, M'KENNA DUEL FEATURES SCHOOL MEET

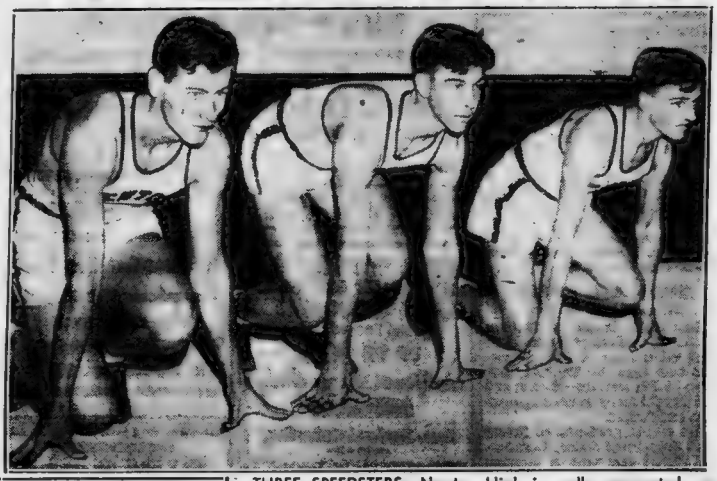

FIGURE ON PHILIP—Newton High rooters are counting on Phil Walsh to help the cause Saturday when the giant shot putter enters the charmed circle. Judging from his recent practice shots, Phil is a heavy favorite to win the event.

THREE SPEEDSTERS—Newton High is well represented on the indoor track this winter, thanks to the sterling performances of Bob Garrity, Bob Morrell and Dick Bourne. The two Bobs star in the dash while Dick is superb in the 300 and relay. This trio will be seen in action in the Northeastern scholastic meet tomorrow at the Boston Y.

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Newton High School's track force, once king of all it surveyed, may move back onto its lofty throne tomorrow afternoon when, along with 30 other schools, the Orange and Black sends its undefeated squad to the Y. M. C. A. for the 16th annual running of the Northeastern University carnival.

All in all, there'll be 310 schoolboys battling for points in a dozen events in one of the wildest scrambles since the local grocer posted a "butter" sign in his window.

Newton, under the guidance of Charlie Considine and Lemoine Boyle since Don Enoch joined the armed forces, has the balance that might pave the way to a slim victory—but nevertheless a triumph—but meanwhile defending champion Rindge Tech and St. John's high of Danvers will be stealing the spotlight, with its individual performers—Ralph King and Tom McKenna, formerly of Concord.

KING DEFENDS TITLE

King will be the only individual defending a title when he competes in the 300-yard run. As a matter of fact, King will also try to retain his crown in the 45-yard dash which he captured last year over these same boards, but his match with McKenna, recent winner in the N. E. A. A. U. meet at Malden, promises to highlight the meet.

It's practically a certainty that King and McKenna will run one-two in this 300 but Newton will be quite content if either Dick Bourne or Bob Morrell can take a third. To do this, they'll have to beat out John Newby, of Medford, runner-up last year, who garnered second place for the Mustangs.

Gordon Thomas, outdoor state champion in the hurdles, will hold the big hopes of Coaches Considine and Boyle. Thomas, moving indoors turned in neat times while capturing the timber topping events in dual meets with Medford and Malden. Then, Thomas will have the runner-up to the state title, Harry Greenwood, as a running mate in this clash.

WALSH FAVORED IN SHOT

Another outdoor state champion, Phil Walsh, will be favored to hang up a first place for the Orange and Black in the shot put. Like Thomas, Walsh likes the going indoors and he'll have that clever sophomore, Morrell, to assist him to this crown.

Newton may be without the services of Ed Wyman in the 600 and a trio of sophomores in the 1000-yard run, Boynton Merrill, Jack Wilson and Jimmy Young. Bob Garritty, second to Thomas in both the Malden and Medford meets, will try to carry Newton into the point column in the 45-yard dash.

Newton's relay team, which scored the only point for the Orange and Black last year, will be made up from Bourne, Morrell, Wyman, George Shepherd and Thomas. And remember, this relay team ran roughshod over Medford in their recent test.

Pairings in the relay races will pit Brighton vs. Cambridge Latin; Lynn Classical vs. Roslindale; Concord vs. Roxbury Memorial; Arlington vs. Boston Trade; Dorchester vs. Jamaica Plain; Boston Latin vs. Brookline; St. John's vs. Weymouth; Dedham vs. Mechanic Arts; Boston English vs. Lowell; Lawrence vs. Rindge Tech; Lynn English vs. Somerville and Medford vs. Newton

Robinson, Basora Signed for March 1

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, sensational Harlem welterweight, will meet Jose Basora of New York in a 10-rounder at Philadelphia's Convention Hall, March 1.

Taylor said it will be the final bit of action for Robinson, unbeaten in his entire amateur and professional career, before entering the Army.

Phillips, Sparrow Tufts' Track Aces

By HERB FINNEGAN

Tufts' track forces engage Boo Morcom and his New Hampshire supporting cast at Cousens gym tomorrow, and though Coach Ding Dussault no doubt will close his eyes in horror while Boo is winning pole vault, high and broad jumps, he'll have them wide open when his own Roy Phillips and Ted Sparrow are in operation.

Except that both are in their 'teens, Phillips and Sparrow have very little in common. Phillips is a two-miler, Sparrow a hurdler. Phillips is a little tyke, smaller even than Greg Rice. Sparrow is a blond giant. Phillips never ran in high school. Sparrow was a prep school hurdles champ under Tommy Meagher at Browne and Nichols.

TO RUN AT MILLROSE

Sparrow is only a soph, yet this winter has equalled Ed Dugger's 5.9 cage record for the 50's no less than eight times. Phillips, a junior, has a remarkable record for a lad who has just turned 19.

As a sophomore a year ago he placed second in the IC4-A indoor two miles and was third outdoors. He was down as lo was 9:18 finishing second in his specialty at the Penn Relays. Last fall he won every cross country dual meet Tufts took part in.

Exams being over, he now has a chance to do some serious training. He'll run the 1000 and mile against New Hampshire tomorrow because Tufts will need the points.

One week from tomorrow he'll be measuring strides against the nation's big league two-milers—Greg Rice himself, Frankie Dixon of NYU, Leo Casey of Manhattan, Orville Hunter of Notre Dame, etc. It will be his big time debut. At the same time Sparrow will be facing Wolcott, Head and Wright, the nation's best hurdlers.

Two years ago Dussault unveiled a two-miler yclept Bill Atkinson, who did 9.22.3 to win the IC4-A two-mile crown. It was the second fastest two miles in IC4-A history.

Says Dussault frankly: "Phillips is a better two-miler than Atkinson."

FAST AS DUGGER

Two years ago Dussault developed Ed Dugger to such a pitch that the colored phenom defeated Fred Wolcott in 13.9 to win the national collegiate hurdles championship at Minneapolis.

Says Dussault frankly: Sparrow should be every bit as good as Dugger before he's much older."

Dussault has brewed some top-notch track men in his 12 years at Tufts. Phillips and Sparrow may turn out to be the Master Brewer's Master Brew.

St. Francis Edges LaSallie, 47 to 41

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—After the score had been tied 11 times, St. Francis of Brooklyn pulled away in the closing minutes to whip LaSalle of Philadelphia 47 to 41 in the second game of a basketball triple-header at Madison Square Garden.

St. John's defeated Camp Upton in the first game, 47 to 39, scoring 11 points in an overtime period. The show drew a crowd estimated at 14,000.

Angelo Cistoldi In Main Mat Bout

Angelo Cistoldi, a consistent winner in his local appearances, will be making his first start in a main bout when he takes on Slidin' Bill Hansen next Wednesday night at the Arena in the feature of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly wrestling show.

Cistoldi, one of the roughest grapplers in the country, has been chalking up triumphs throughout the East after a late start this season.

BANNER FIGHT CARD SLATED AT ARENA

Forty-two rounds of boxing, topped off by a triple-header of eight rounders, will provide fight fans with plenty of action tonight when the Goodwin A. C. takes over the Boston Arena for its weekly fistic festival.

In this three cornered wind-up, Dave Andrews, Lowell, is matched with Frankie McDougall, Roxbury; Al Costa, Woonsocket, R. I., will be paired with Al Evans, Newport, R. I. and Steve Kronis, South End, will take on Snooks Lacey, New Haven, Ct.

Dave "Golden Boy" Andrews, former All-America amateur welterweight champion, will be looking beyond McDougall for a near future main bout. Andrews, since his victory over Leo Sawacki, Worcester, feels that he is ready to step out of the preliminary class.

Costa, making his first appearance in the Hub, is anxious to impress the fans that his winning streak was earned the hard way. Battling exclusively in Fall River and New Bedford, Costa has moved steadily along so that he'll be visioning a tussle for the N. E. welter crown.

Steve Kronis, the newest knockout sensation, will be trying to duplicate his recent victory over Jackie Smallwood at the expense of the hard-hitting Snooks Lacey.

Three sixes will complete the card, topped off by the second pro appearance of Cambridge Jimmy Sauer, former National and All-American titlist. Sauer scored a knockout in his first start and he'll be seeking his second against Soldier Martin. In the other, Jimmy Miles, Taunton, will meet Joe Hernandez, Roxbury, and the Blond Tiger, Lowell, faces Al DeAngeles, Revere.

Willie Pep Picked Over Allie Stolz

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (INS—The boy with the most amazing record in professional ring history, Wee Willie Pep of Hartford, Ct., who has won 58 straight bouts, will face his severest test when he tangles with Allie Stolz of Newark in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Pep is a 6 to 5 favorite, but there is so much interest in this bout that there is no certainty who will wind up the favorite at ring time. The fight is a catch-weight affair, with Pep slated to weigh in about 130 and Stolz 134 pounds.

O'MEARA BEST QUALIFIED TO SUCCEED PRES. CALDER

By BILL GRIMES

Manager Art Ross of the Bruins doesn't want to be president of the National Hockey League.

And, moreover, he will refuse the offer if the board of governors attempt to draft him to succeed Frank Calder, who was stricken with a heart attack last Monday in Toronto.

Now that Frank Calder's physicians have ordered him to take a complete rest for at least three months, the National Hockey League is in the market for a new president.

Prompted by a story, which was published yesterday, Art Ross announces that he realizes that he isn't qualified for the berth and that the author of that tale was shooting at the moon, prompted by a tip from Toronto. However, he did admit that five years ago he wanted and would have accepted the presidency.

"Hockey is a $2,000,000 business today," confided Ross. "And there isn't a man in the N. H. L. qualified for the job. The presidency of the N. H. L. requires an outstanding attorney."

CALDER, ROSS ON OUTS

Since Art Ross and Frank Calder jammed a few years ago, when the latter thought that the former was trying to get his job, the Bruin executive hasn't attended any N. H. L. governors' meetings.

But, as I see it, if the National Hockey League decides to replace Frank Calder, the replacement will be a Canadian. The N. H. L. started in Canada. Hockey is Canada's national game. And, despite the fact that most of the revenue has been contributed by Americans, there are enough Canadians and former Canadians on the Board of Governors to swing the balance of power to our good neighbors across the border.

O'MEARA HAS EDGE

From my meager knowledge of what goes on in the N. H. L. Baz O'Meara, of the Montreal Star, will be Frank Calder's successor. And, there isn't anyone affiliated with hockey better qualified to be president.

Baz O'Meara was recognized as Canada's leading hockey authority years before portable typewriters were in vogue.

Along with the above mentioned qualifications, Baz O'Meara has an "ace" in the hole in James Norris, owner of the Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Stadium and a director of the Madison Sq. Garden Corporation.

James Norris is the most powerful man in the N. H. L. He's practically in the driver's seat of four of the six clubs.

Larry Pacino Stops Britt In 10th Round

Eddie Mack's debut as matchmaker for the Boston Boxing Association at Mechanics Building was a fistic wow but a semi-financial flop.

Pacino, Roxbury idol with a huge cheering section, weighing 157½, was on the deck for nine in the first. He got up to flatten Britt 153½, Fall River, for four in the second.

Pacino then went on to pile up a good lead and was hammering his way to a decision in the 10th when, suddenly, he bounced a boisterous right hand off Britt's cement chin.

BRITT HELPLESS

Britt, never knocked out or knocked down in some 12 years of campaigning, dropped as though a bomb had landed on his dome. He was up at six, refusing to take the benefit of a full count, but was helpless.

Pacino laid in a two-fisted barrage before Referee Johnny Martin stepped in and gave Pacino a T. K. O.

Jackie Caparelli, Roxbury, 166, repeated his previous victory over Soldier Joe Montoya, Ft. Devens, 174, in a tremendous 8-round semi-final. Caparelli took an unanimous decision.

Andy Holland, New York, 169, registered with a 4-round technical kayo over Sal Cesario, North End, 172, when Cesario was unable to come out for the fifth because of a bruised fist.

BUSKLESS WINS

Willard Buckless, Saugus, 153, made it two straight professional wins when he grabbed a 4-round verdict over Maurice Cloutier, Manchester, N. H., 150½.

Jackie Donahue, Coast Guard, 135, beat Johnny Coe, Medford, 135, to a four-round nod after dropping Coe for nine in the third.

The paid attendance was 1590, the gross $2088 and the net $1930.

BENTLEY SETS SCORING MARK

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (INS)—Sparked by Max Bentley who tied the world's record by scoring seven points, with four goals and three assists, the Chicago Blackhawks defeated the New York Rangers, 10 to 1, in a National Hockey League game. Seven of the Hawk goals came in the final period.

Bentley, in tying the record made this year by Carl Liscombe of Detroit, scored all four of his goals in the final period.

Max Bentley started his scoring salvo at 1:44 of the final period and Aud Tuten counted at 2:03. After Max Bentley scored at 11:06, Red Hamill scored twice, at 11:40 and 14:22. Max Bentley resumed his scoring spree with a chukker at 17:11 and wound up his evening's work at 19:36.

Max Bentley, who was taken off the ice after his final goal, was sent back again to let him try for a record, but time did not permit. His brother, Doug, came within an ace of also tying the mark when he scored two goals and four assists for six points.

Cunningham Sees 4-Minute Mile Due

MT. VERNON, Ia., Jan. 29 (AP)—Dr. Glenn Cunningham, whose sinewy legs carried him over the mile route faster than any other runner, believes that the four-minute mile will be accomplished in the "not too distant future."

The one-time "King of the Milers," now director of athletics at Cornell College, said today that "some fast man among those coming up now will shade four minutes."

Glenn missed the ultimate goal of all milers, but his 4:04.4 mark in a special race at Dartmouth in 1938 is the lowest in track history. It was not recognized, however, as a world mark because he was paced during the race run on the special indoor board track.

IMPRESED BY HAEGG

Cunningham, discussing the present crop of milers, said he is impressed by the records reported on Gunder Haegg, the 24-year-old Swedish fireman whose 4:04.6 mark recently was accepted as the world outdoor record.

"All I know abcut Haegg is what I have read and the pictures I have seen," Glenn said. "He seems to be a smooth runner."

He added, however, that he still holds his fingers crossed on what Haegg would do in competition in this country.

He thinks Gilbert Dodds' 4:13 race in the Sugar Bowl competition was fast for this time of the year.

"Maybe he can yet uncork the stem-winder," Glenn added.

MATTER OF PSYCHOLOGY

The "stem-winder" is largely a matter of psychology in Cunningham's opinion.

"The first man who runs a four-minute mile will have to believe he can do it," he declared.

"The right ingredients are speed, endurance, pace-judgment and intestinal fortitude, together with the psychological conviction of the runner that that is the day on which he can break the tape in record time," Cunningham explained.

MIDDLEBURY TO HOLD MEET

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Jan. 29 (AP)—Despite the ban on pleasure driving, which will prevent the use of the 13,000-acre winter sports campus on Bread Loaf Mountain, Middlebury College will hold its 12th annual winter carnival, Feb. 19-20.

The sports program will have to be held on Chipman Hill, a 500-foot prominence overlooking this college town, and the lack of room will force the cancellation of the women's intercollegiate meet.

Teams from Harvard, Dartmouth, Williams, the University of New Hampshire and the University of Vermont already have accepted invitations, and the competition will include downhill and slalom, on the 19th, and cross-country and jumping on the 20th.

Leo Durocher To Aid Cadets

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 29 (INS)—If Manager Leo Durocher is not inducted into the Army prior to the Brooklyn Dodgers' spring training period at nearby Bear Mountain, he will serve as advisory coach of baseball at West Point. Col. L. M. (Biff) Jones, graduate manager, announced.

Col. Jones said Durocher had volunteered his services and will handle the job during March and the first week of April, according to plans, when Lieut. Paul Amen, new officer in charge of baseball, will take over.

Meantime Durocher is expected to take his draft board physical examination within the next few days. He will leave Rochester, Minn., for his home at St. Louis tonight, following his periodical physical check-up at Mayo Clinic.

GREAT LAKES TEAMS DRAW $265,000 GATE

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Jan. 29 (AP)—The Great Lakes varsity athletic teams—basketball, baseball and football—played a total of 125 games last season before 600,000 spectators and grossed $265,000.

Thirty-six basketball games drew 100,000 fans and earned $15,000; 12 football games with college teams attracted 125,000 customers and grossed approximately $125,000; 77 baseball games against professionals, semi-pros and collegians were watched by 375,000 fans and clicked off $150,000.

Most of the receipts went to various Navy relief and sailor welfare funds.

Heusser, 32, was with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1935 and 1936; pitched one inning with the Philadelphia Phils in 1938; was with the Athletics in 1940, and in 1941 with Atlanta. During the forepart of 1942 he was with Los Angeles and moved to Birmingham.

Malloy, a 1941 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, hails from Bountiful, Utah.

Rangers Find Adversity Pays

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The New York Rangers of the National Hockey League are wondering a little if it pays to have a winning team after all.

The club right now is a feeble last in the standings, but on the basis of 14 home games they actually are $24,000 ahead of the profits of last year at a similar stage. And last year they romped away with the bunting for the regular season.

Occupation Passes Derby

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (INS)—Occupation, the greatest money-winning juvenile of last year, will not start in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness or Belmont stakes—the famed "triple crown" of turfdom—according to word received from Trainer Burley Parke.

While Parke makes no mention of what stakes his charge will or will not start in his disclosure that he expects to have the colt in condition to race about the latter part of June or the first of July, after a light training period, shuts the door on the above mentioned blue ribbon events, so far as the John Marsch ace is concerned.

With the Derby scheduled for May 1, the Preakness traditionally following it a week later, and the Belmont stakes hard by, the last of this glamorous trio of events to be decided during the spring meeting which runs from May 10 through June 5, it is evident that, should Parke adhere to his stated coming out date for Occupation, the brilliant son of Bull Dog, winner of the fabulous sum of $192,355 in his initial campaign as a two-year-old last year, will not be able to answer the bugle in the turf's three most historic three-year-old classics.

BACKSTRETCH BREVITIES

When Black Time and Praiseworthy were haltered out of Wednesday's third race at the Fair Grounds they became the 117th and 118th claims of the meeting.

New Orleans horsemen expressed regret at the news of the passing of Richard F. Howe, owner of the Howe stable and a member of the Jockey Club. Several of his horses, in charge of F. J. Kearns, were en route to the Fair Grounds when word of his death was made known.

Two new riders checked their tack in the jockey quarters at Fair Grounds yesterday. The latest arrivals are Robert Wholey and William Day, associated with the W. O. Hicks' stable. They plan to get into action immediately.

The longest-priced winner of the season and an unusual daily double situation developed at Fair Grounds yesterday. Colonial Miss, owned by Stinson Hall, won the opening dash for 3-year-old maidens to return a straight price of $318.60 for two. Then Wise Decision, a 3 to 5 choice, won the second race and completed a daily double worth only $298.40, or considerably less than the return on Colonial Miss alone.

The stable of W. O. Hicks has been bedded down at the Fair Grounds following its arrival from Miami. Included in the shipment were six two-year-olds and three older horses. Frank J. Kearns also unloaded a trio of horses for the New Orleans campaigning.

MELROSE ICE SEXTET TESTS MEDFORD

Battling for the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey championship will enter a more serious stage tomorrow afternoon at the Garden when the four first division teams tangle in their round robin series in the highlight of another full program of ice activity.

Meanwhile, the Bay State League will conclude its regular schedule with a quartet of tilts at the Arena tomorrow afternoon and the Eastern Mass. will conduct its weekly session on this same surface tomorrow night.

ARLINGTON MEETS RINDGE

In the melee at the North Station, Medford High, now in first place, will be shooting for a stronger grip on the top of the G. B. L. standings against defending champion Melrose, while Arlington, pace-setter for the greater part of the campaign, will be up against the high flying Rindge Tech outfit. Consolation games will pit Newton vs. Stoneham and Cambridge Latin vs. Belmont.

There's little doubt but that Medford is the team to beat out. The Garritty brothers, Jack and Will, combining with Fred Trebine, form one of the smoothest working outfits in the entire loop and they'll probably pack too much power for the clever Ed Cahoon, mainstay of Coach Dave Gavin's defending titlists.

Rindge Tech's Leo Desrosiers, Bob Verrier and Henry Moulton, hitting a terrific pace, will give the Technicians a fine chance of upsetting the Arlington outfit.

SOFT GAME IN WALPOLE

In the afternoon tussles at the Arena, Walpole high, led by the Songin brothers, should have a soft time sewing up the Bay State title at the expense of last place Boston College high.

Other contests will find Norwood tackling Waltham; Framingham battling Watertown and Wellesley meeting Needham.

The Eastern Mass loop will pit Dedham vs. Somerville; Hudson vs. Natick; Brookline vs. Malden and Lexington vs. Wakefield.

Drive and Fish: It's OK With OPA

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—A number of Tampans are meeting the pleasure driving ban with equanimity—they use their automobiles to go fishing for ten, and it's all legal.

Their route to work is right along the bay, so they leave home an hour or so early in the morning, take their fishing poles along, and stop for a little sport. With no extra gas being used, the OPA has no objection.

Jumbos Fear Len Kamazoulles

Despite Boo Morcom's three first places a year ago, Tufts defeated New Hampshire in their winter dual meet, but doesn't know what to expect from the Durham, N. H., contingent tomorrow.

For instance, Tufts would like to know if Lennie Kamazoulles is still operating for N. H. Lennie from Lowell, defeated Tufts' Charlie Kirkiles in the dash as a freshman last winter, then astounded all and sundry by copping the 300 in 33.3, marvelous time on Tufts' slow track.

To prove his versatility, Kamazoulles won the broad jump with a 20.6 leap. It is apparent that Tufts will have its hands full if Kamazoulles as well as Morcom is on hand tomorrow because weight-man Ed Sterner probably is good for another five N. H. points.

Morcom, intercollegiate outdoor and indoor pole vault and high jump champion, cleared 14 feet in the vault, 6-4½ in the high jump and broad jumped 23 feet at Tufts last winter . . . One thing in Tufts' favor is that week-old graduates Joe Hoffer, Warren Price and Bruce Watkins not only will compete but their points will count . . . Tufts' pole vault record is 11-3, made by Hollis Paegel in 1940. Hoffer has been soaring over 13 feet all winter. Tufts will accept his record tomorrow even though he trails Morcom . . . Tufts' shot put record is 44-5¾, made by Dave Pollard two years ago. Watkins has been bettering 45 feet consistently . . . Tufts' broad jump record, made by George Arbene in '38, is 21-6⅝. Price has been clearing 22 feet consistently. Thus these three Tufts boys, victims of the accelerated scholastic program, will have one final chance to establish college records. New Hampshire has agreed to it.

Supremacy Challenged

Dick Smith of Dedham, great 1000-yard prospect, has been ill for the past two weeks but will run against New Hampshire tomorrow in an effort to swell the Tufts point total . . . The draft board in Bridgeport, Ct., has agreed to let Roy Phillips, just 19, remain in college until June.

Northeastern's fine track team will be idle tomorrow but has a tri date with Bates and Bowdoin at Lewiston on Feb. 6, the day of the Millrose games . . . Tufts' two-mile relay team has been wrecked, but N. U. has what may be the East's best in Bob Carroll, Ray Furbush, Walter Crowley and Bill Foster. Despite its talent, the team will not be invited to the Millrose games because it has had no proving ground, such as the K. of C. meet in Boston used to provide.

CHARLESTOWN BOYS IN SWIM

The 17th annual swimming championship to be held at the Lincoln Square Boys' Club, at the Taylor Natatorium, Worcester, will be held today and tomorrow. This meet boasts a fine array of entries among which are many prominent Hub swimmers.

James O'Brien, ace of the Charlestown Boys' Club, is entered in the 220-yard freestyle. Bob Aaron and Kendall Russell, freshmen members of the Harvard varsity, have also been entered in the meet. Bob Aaron will compete in the breastroke and the 150 individual medley swim. Russell will swim in the 220 and 440-yard freestyle.

Steve Polillo and William Maroney, will lead a six-man team from the Roxbury Boys' Club. Other entries are in from Harvard, Charlestown and Roxbury and further entries are expected from the Boston Y. M. C. A., M. I. T. and Brookline Swimming Club.

Joe Louis Proud Of Boxing Team

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29 (INS)—Although his "boys" didn't set the pugilistic world on fire, Sergt. Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, was proud of his student-boxers from Ft. Riley.

Sergt. Joe, who was in the corner with eight of his "students" at an amateur boxing exhibition, saw seven of them beaten. The eighth knocked out his opponent in the third round after losing the first two.

Desrosiers to Play for Pics

Hago Harrington will ice two outstanding forward walls in an endeavor to halt the Coast Guard Cutters at the Garden tomorrow evening and Sunday afternoon.

Harrington will start his fine Chaisson — Lundberg — Schmidt trio Saturday. They are playing together for the last time this season. At present Chaisson does not expect to be available for the Sunday tilt.

The second Olympic wave appears to have hit its stride with the return of Gerry Desrosiers to the right lane. Improved also and skating as well as any player on the squad is Roger Bedard, young center from Granby, Que. Jerry Bauer, a natural center, has begun to find himself on the left lane. The Boston club is very short on left shots, which makes it necessary for Harrington to use his two sparkling pivotmen, Chaisson and Bauer, on left wing.

Since the Cutters last handed the 'Pics a double defeat, the local team has strengthened its defense by the addition of Don Nichols. The Calumet Michigan youth is nursing a bad knee, but his work at Philadelphia was outstanding.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Boston Bruins' famous "Kraut" line, Milt Schmidt, Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer, enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

THREE YEARS AGO—Philadelphia gave Benny McCoy a $45,000 bonus for signing with the Athletics and a two-year contract calling for $10,000 annually.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Don Budge defeated Jack Bromwich, Australian, in finals of Australian national tennis singles, 6—4, 6—2 and 6—1.

PHIL SCRIBES HONOR HEROES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Philadelphia Sporting Writers Association, who distributre trophies each year to heroes of the playing fields, made only one presentation at their annual dinner tonight—to the heroes of the armed forces.

"To the members of our all-time, all-star team," said Don Donaghey, in presenting the trophy to Lieut. Slade Cutter, former Navy football star, who accepted in the name of all the services branches."

Stranded

South Station opened its doors to those stranded in Boston by the snow storm . . . and scenes like these (above and left) were plentiful at the train terminal. With most of the benches occupied, some turned to counter chairs for their "beds" for the night.
